Postwar education to be open forum subject

Arlington Dads club meeting open to public

Postwar education!

That will be the topic when some several hundred citizens of Arlington Heights and surrounding area of all walks of life gather at the high school gymnasium next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock for an open discussion.

The program, which is sponsored by the Arlington Heights Dad's Club in cooperation with the high school as a community project, will be highlighted by accomplished speakers, men who are successful in various industries.

Expected to address the gathering are leaders in education, law, newspaper advertising, manufacturing and various branches of the retail trade.

Unquestionably, when the war is over and final victory has been achieved, our progressive United States will see a business boom such as it has never experienced since Thomas Jefferson and our other American greats of the Revolutionary War era penned their names to the Declaration of Independence. There will be a strong need for trained and educated men and women.

That is the purpose of Wednesday night's open discussion—to educate the folks to the fact that the need for a more educated America is inevitable. Employers will need a more intelligent employee and the employee should be ready to cope with the situation.

An interesting feature of the program is that it will be strictly open, that is, no questions barred. The speakers will be ready to answer any questions that may be popped at them and the whole thing will become more informal as the program goes along.

Woman killed husband injured in auto accident

A Cadillac car being driven northwest on Rand road Saturday by Joe Colucci, Chicago, crashed into the rear of a Ford being driven by Howard Morton of Palatine near the County Line and Rand roads. Mrs. Morton was pinned under the car, sustaining possible skull fracture and internal injuries which caused her death Wednesday morning.

An inquest will be held Thursday morning at the Danielsen-Tharp funeral home.

Mr. Morton only received lacerations and bruises and is recovering.

The Mortons were on their way to the home of their near neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder with a load of groceries in anticipation of celebrating a birthday. They had nearly reached the Snyder home when they were hit by the heavier car which turned over their Ford several times.

Plan tuberculin tests in January

With the Arlington Heights Health Center and the high school Board of Education cooperating, the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County are again laying plans for the annual tuberculin testing program in the local schools. Because of the intervening holidays the date has been postponed until January 15, 1945. The portable X-ray apparatus will be here January 29 to take chest X-rays of all postive reactors of this year and of previous years. It is important that students who graduated from high school who had a positive test be re-x-rayed at least once a year so no pathology will develop.

The tuberculin test is a painless skin test which shows whether the tubercle bacilli have entered the body. It does not necessarily mean that the individual has tuberculosis. However, it is important that the positive reactor have a chest X-ray taken as soon as possible to rule out the possibility of there being a tubercular condition present.

Any one of the community who has been in contact with a known tubercular patient may be X-rayed at this time by making arrangements with Mrs. Carroll, the community nurse.

The tuberculin test is offered without charge. $1.00 must be paid for the X-ray to cover actual film used.

Lake Zurich chef dies from burns

The exploding Sunday evening of an oil stove in a cottage occupied by Frank Mathis, chef of Breezy Point tavern, Lake Zurich, caused his death the following day. Lake Zurich firemen fought the blaze. Mathis was taken to the Libertyville hospital.

Homo Milk to distribute Pet Milk products

The Homo Milk Company, Arlington Heights, recently incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois will start operations Dec. 2 and patrons of many milk stores and dairies will again be able to secure Pet Milk products.

The company, which is an entire new organization, holds the exclusive contract for the distribution of such products. It is owned by the dealers who will handle the product. John Randag is manager and treasurer.

Mr. Randag is receiving congratulations over his success in organizing the new company, and the establishment of the headquarters in Arlington. Its operation means increased buying power and more business for local stores. The company has secured the former quarters of the Pet Milk Co.

Husband answers radio query; his wife gets fur coat

Saturday proved to be a lucky day for Mrs. Ira Parker, 608 Burton Place, Arlington Heights. Because her husband was able to answer two questions on the "Ladies Be Smart" program, hubby has $15 and Mrs. Parker will have a $500 fur coat.

They had the radio turned on as they were enjoying their Saturday morning breakfast of parker house rolls. Suddenly the announcer stated that because he had failed to get answers on three Chicago numbers called, he would try the suburbs. Imagine their surprise when the next number to be called was Arlington Heights 751. The two Parkers were ready to pick up the receiver as soon as the phone rang.

The first question, worth fifteen dollars, was "How many notes in a musical scale?" After answering this correctly Mr. Parker took a chance on the $500 fur coat question "What son of what President was Minister to England, Secretary of War, and President of the Pullman Company?" The answer, Robert Cod Lincoln" was not too difficult for Mr. Parker to answer as Mrs. Parker's father, Mr. Paul Dana, had had a bachelor apartment with Robert Cod Lincoln, son of Abraham Lincoln, Wm. Burry and Lester Carter several years ago.

Mr. Parker was able to answer the first question because during his early college days at Ripon, Wis., he displayed unusual ability as a mandolin player. He is also a talented soloist and has been a member of the Mendelssohn Club in Chicago for years. Mrs. Parker reports it meets every Tuesday night. He organized a quartet in Arlington Heights which was enjoyed by all who heard them sing. He is now auditor and assistant secretary of the Great Northern Life Insurance Co.

Mr. Parker has been Secretary of the Scarsdale Property Owners Association and the Arlington Heights Garden Club. He plays a very important part in the activities of the Methodist church and choir.

Their many friends have flooded them with congratulations.

His class motto at Ripon was "Many are called but few can give the right answer".

The answer to the next question —"Who is the lady in that beautiful new fur coat?" will be "Why that's the charming Mrs. Ira Parker."

Congratulations to the Parkers!

Lions eat turkey

At their Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday evening, November 21, the Arlington Heights Lions had as their guests their "lady friends" who were given a preview of the goings on at the Lutheran school each first and third Tuesday. Turkey and all the trimmings was served in inimitable style by the ladies of the Dorcas Aide.

Among other guests was the District Governor Stanley Sebby, who gave a short talk, complimenting the members of Arlington Heights on the fine work they have been doing in placing their club among the top ranking clubs of the district. During the dinner music was supplied by the Arlington Heights high school stringed ensemble under the direction of Mr. Costain.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Axel Christensen of the Chicago School of Music. In addition to being an accomplished pianist, Mr. Christensen is an able story teller and imitator. His characterization of "The Count" fresh from Denmark was an evening's entertainment in itself.

The "ladies night" is an annual event with the Lions Club and everyone in attendance voted this year's event the best ever.

SIXTH WAR LOAN

UNITED STATES TREASURY

CHICAGO and COOK COUNTY WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS

FELLOW CITIZENS
OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

The Sixth War Loan Drive is on in Arlington Heights--as in every other city, town, and village, as well as the rural areas, throughout our country.

Our quota is $100,000. Purchases by corporations are invited, but only purchases by individuals and other non-corporate buyers will count in the fulfillment of our local quota.

It is not a sacrifice to buy War Bonds. It is simply sound common sense. The war is not over. Your purchases will assist in its financing, but they will also--

1. Provide you a prime investment from which you will receive an income in cash or appreciation in value, depending upon the bond you select, and

2. Help hold the line against price inflation, a point that we cannot emphasize too strongly.

A Victory Volunteer, one of your patriotic neighbors, will call on you. Welcome him and buy that extra War Bond. Enclosed is a booklet containing information about the popular Series E Bond and other bonds being offered in this campaign. Look it over, plan your purchases, and buy generously.

Give a WAR BOND for Christmas.

WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS
Chairman

Henry B. Evans new cashier at Arlington National

Directors of the Arlington Heights National Bank have secured as cashier Henry B. Evans, for fifteen years with a bank at Warrenville, DuPage county. Mr. Evans is a graduate of the University of Illinois, where he majored in agriculture and commerce, which ideally fit him for cashier of a bank with a farming and business clientele.

Mr. Evans has been personally known for many years to the president and several of the directors of the Arlington bank who feel that they are fortunate in securing a man of his caliber.

The new cashier expects to bring his family to Arlington next week occupying the Stade residence at 202 South Highland. Mr. and Mrs. Evans have two sons.

Arlington village buys $1,000 war bond

The village of Arlington Heights invested for the third time $750 of its water fund into a U. S. war bond. The board at its last meeting authorized the purchase. It had previously purchased bonds in that amount in the 4th and 5th drives. The bonds have not been cashed.

The village water department is operated separate from other departments of the village and conducted on a business basis is paying a profit, which the village officials think could not be placed to better advantage than as an investment in the war effort.

Fire department surprises owner of forgotten iron

When Mrs. Fred J. Meier, 21 S. Walnut street, Arlington Heights, left her ironing to chat with a neighbor last Friday evening, she had no thoughts of a surprise party. The fire department staged the surprise a short time later. A passerby had turned in a fire alarm.

Mrs. Meier had left an electric iron turned on. The iron set the ironing board afire, sparks fell into a basket of clothes and a fire was nicely started by the time the fire fighters arrived. Mrs. Meier was still at the neighbors when the apparatus arrived in front of her home.

War fund still 5 per cent short

Stuart W. Cochran, chairman of the Suburban Division, today urged residents of the entire suburban area to help the Community and War Fund, which represents the National War Fund locally, make a "Victory March" for the last 5 per cent of its quota of $12,980,000.

Cochran pointed out that every penny of its goal is needed by the Community and War Fund. He said that huge demands have been made upon the War Relief Funds by, among other things, the Philippine invasion, the spread of war on the western front and the robot bombings in England.

Glenview youth missing in Philippines

News was received last week that Reinhardt Sternberg of Glenview was missing in action in the Pacific. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sternberg, route 1, Des Plaines.

Machinist mate third class Sternberg served aboard a destroyer, the USS Johnston, which was sunk by enemy action in the recent naval battle of the Philippines. Hope is held for his rescue.

Reinhardt entered the navy January 7, 1943, taking his boot training at Great Lakes. He was then sent to University Farm Campus at St. Paul, Minnesota, for 12 weeks, earning his machinist mate's rating. Before entering service he was a student at Northbrook high school.

Final 1944 income payment extended to January 15

Income taxpayers who have been paying their 1944 income tax on a quarterly basis were surprised this week when they received the customary forms and found that the last payment will be due Jan. 15, 1944, in place of Dec. 15, 1944.

The date of final payment was changed in the latest income tax revision and will enable tax payers to more accurately estimate the amount of tax that will be due for the entire year. Some may be able to file their full return at that time in place of waiting until March 15.

Employees subject to withholding tax, will find that the amounts to be deducted from their salary checks will be somewhat larger after Jan. 1st. The new simplified income tax does not reduce the amount of such tax except in cases of large families.

On our desk

Palatine, Nov. 19, 1944.

Paddock Publications
Sirs:

A timely warning should be sounded now re the danger of rifles in the hands of youngsters and oldsters. The distance a rifle bullet carries is generally overlooked.

Last fall a rifle bullet went through the window of the house behind us and if the lady had been sitting in her favorite chair, she would have been killed. Another rifle bullet punctured the body of a car parked between our house and barn. The neighbors dog was shot in the leg and had to be killed. This spring when rabbits were bothering the Victory Gardens a rifle bullet went through a cow's udder in the pasture across the street. A carpenter making repairs to the building across the street was almost shot, the bullet coming so close that the man felt the wind of its passing.

Several years ago a man spreading manure from a wagon was just missed by a rifle bullet fired through a copse of trees. All of this happened on less than 40 acres of ground.

No one likes to spoil anothers fun but the confined quarters of a subdivision make rifle practice dangerous.

Yours truly,
Johanna Metzler.

PERSONAL PROPERTY LIST

The personal property list of Wheeling township appears in the Arlington Heights Herald this week. The amounts shown are full valuation.

Palatine new National Bank opens Saturday

For the Palatine community the opening of the new bank is a dream come true.

Ever since the early days of the depression when both Palatine banks were forced to close, together with thousands of others throughout the country, the question in Palatine has been "when will we have a bank?" At last the question is answered.

Backed by a group of men who live in Palatine and who have faith in the Palatine of the present and the future, the new bank opening will be a gala occasion.

There will be girls handing out flowers to the ladies and there will be cigars for the men.

The opening day will be "open house" from 9:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended by the bank officials to the entire community to come in and pay them a visit and get acquainted with the new bank family.

The bank opening also coincides with the opening of the Sixth War Loan Drive in Palatine and the Palatine National Bank will be ready to take care of purchases of war bonds and will, together with the post office, be a clearing house for the redemption of pledges for bonds secured by the flying squadrons of canvassers who will cover the entire township within the next few days.

The officers of the bank are John G. Ford, president; Stanley F. Pepper, vice president, and Warren C. Kohler, cashier. Mr. Ford and Mr. Pepper of Inverness have resided in the Palatine area long enough to be sold on the town. Cashier Kohler comes to Palatine from the Arlington Heights National Bank. In addition to the above the directors are Roy L. LaLonde, O. J. Martinson, Arthur T. McIntoshe, Way Thompson, Frank Wente and C. A. Wynne.

For the present the bank employees will number three. Cashier Kohler will be assisted by Mrs. Helen Ullock of Palatine and Miss Dorothy Hoeft, of Arlington Heights.

Banking hours will be 9:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. daily except Wednesday when the bank closes at noon. In order to meet the demand for evening hours in a farming community, the National Bank will also be open Saturday evenings from 6:00 to 8:00 o'clock.

The building and quarters of the new bank have been passing thru a rejuvenating process and looks as "good as new". This has been possible because equipment of the original National Bank was kept by the depositor's committee for just such an occasion. That committee has had to wait twelve years to see its judgment vindicated.

Those who participated in the building trust will have broad smiles when they receive checks very shortly for the amount they invested and approximately 20% interest.

Palatine National Bank offers the same protection to the depositor as any other bank in the country. It is a member of the Federal Reserve System and a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation which gives federal guarantee of deposits placed therein.

Ray Holtze new Palatine highway commissioner

Roy Holtze is the new highway commissioner of Palatine township.

Commissioner Leo Brommelkamp resigned to take another position and the town board appointed Mr. Holtze to fill the vacancy.

The new road boss assumes his duties December 1.

Mr. Holtze has had much experience in road work and was for years the right hand man of former commissioner Henry Roper.

Residents of Palatine township will find the new commissioner a capable and efficient road man.

Mr. Brommelkamp has done a fine job since he was appointed to fill the vacancy made by Mr. Roper's death but the chance for a better job has taken Leo into other fields of work.

Returns from leave 14 days too soon; sent back home

SM 3-c Ray Zyc, Palatine, is probably the first navy man who ever returned from a furlough to his base two weeks ahead of time. When he reported back to base in California after being home on furlough two weeks ago, he learned that somebody had made a mistake and he should have stayed home a month instead of fifteen days. Ray telegraphed home and caught the first plane, but grounded in Texas, he decided that train was faster than air and he arrived in Palatine Monday evening.

Bring him back sooner - Buy Bonds.

Buy victory bonds—bonds buy victory

There is no substitute for victory, and there can be no let down on the battle front or the home front until victory is won. We ask so much from our fighting men. Many are giving life and limb. We are asked merely to lend our money. Truly a small price for the privilege of being a citizen of our great land.

We hope that we soon will witness the triumphal return of our men in uniform. On that great day we will have to take account of ourselves. Will we be able to watch the colors pass and know that we have done our full part? No one is compelled to buy bonds, except by the dictates of his own conscience. The fact that War Bonds offer the best investment that is possible to make, is in itself reason enough to buy to the limit of our ability.

Sam Campbell at high school December 10

Sam Campbell will be at Arlington Heights Sunday evening, December 10. He will show his colored films and give his lecture "Out Where the West Begins". The evening will be one of pure enjoyment for everyone who has taken trips through the Badlands of Dakota, the Black Hills, the Yellowstone and others of nature's unique and beautiful areas of our great northwest. For those who haven't as yet made such a trip, this showing will be next to it. You cannot afford to miss it. It's Sam Campbell at his best and that is saying the ultimate.

To avoid a confusion and a duplication of dates this lecture is being given under the joint auspices of the Dad's Club and the Ladies Aid of the local Presbyterian church. Sam Campbell is sponsored by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co.

The admission is adults 35c, grade children 15c. The place is the high school at 8:15 p. m. December 10.

Make this a must date. You will be glad you did.

Arlington gas station held up by youth Saturday morning

The Virgil Horath gas station, Northwest highway, Arlington Heights, was held up at 2:30 Saturday morning by two youths who had spent seven hours getting up sufficient amount of courage to do the job. Mr. Crane, 84, who acts as night attendant at the station reported to the police that the lads first appeared at 7:30 p. m., returning at 10:30 when they purchased a quart of oil. The cash register is not used at night and the proferred $1.00 bill in payment enabled the boys to learn where Mr. Crane kept his money.

About 2:30 the boys returned a third time asking the purchase of an item in the show case. As Crane leaned over the case, one boy pressed a gun in his ribs and the other pointed a gun at his head. He was told "be quiet and you will not be hurt." A quantity of gas stamps and between $30 and $40 in cash was taken.

The Youth Fellowship of St. John's are working very hard in preparation for their forthcoming plays November 30 and December 1 under the able direction of Mrs. Edward Fritz, Mrs. W. F. Kamphenkel and Miss Virginia Deering.

Each play promises to be highly entertaining. "Billie's First Date" brings out the amusing incidents of a boys problems about dating. "Never Trust A Man" displays how easily words can be misconstrued. "Ask Nancy" portrays the importance character plays in impressions. The cast for these plays has been carefully chosen and consists of twenty-one league members.

Tickets may be obtained from any league member at 40c for adults and 20c for children up to 12 years of age.

Jr. Woman's club benefit card party next week

Waste Paper Day

Arlington Heights boy scouts will collect waste paper Saturday. They are depending upon all households to have their supply out on the curbs early Saturday morning.

Township will not kick in on nurse fund

Village will assume the additional cost

On the plea that the yearly payment of $350 for the Arlington Heights community nurse would be illegal and that such payment might result in criticism on the part of outside taxpayers, the township of Wheeling has officially disclaimed any responsibility for the health fund the last two years.

A letter from Supervisor Klehm setting forth their position was read to the Arlington Heights village board at its last regular meeting. The village will make no attempt to collect this money and will make up the deficiency from its own funds. "The Arlington Heights health program," stated Mayor Goedke, "is too important to allow it to be jeopardized by the action of the township officials."

New chairman of health committee

The Arlington Heights Health Committee met recently and recommended the appointment of Mrs. Arthur Blaschke as chairman of the health committee taking the place of Mrs. Paul Carroll, who is now the community nurse. Mildred Russell was selected as treasurer. Mrs. Chas. Bloecker is the new member at large.

Each civic organization has a representative on the committee which handles health matters and is the contact between the local nurse and governing bodies.

The recommendation of the committee was referred to Mayor Goedke, who made their appointment official at the village board meeting Nov. 20.

The village board held a lengthy meeting Monday night discussing status of outside property which desires connection with the local sewer system. The discussion was "off the record" but it seemed to be the general opinion that the quickest and easiest way for owners of outside property to secure sewer and drainage service is to make application to become part of the incorporated village.

It's an education . . .

It's an education—going to the Arlington Heights Book Fair to see what's new in books for children. This year's Fair, again sponsored by the local PTA opens at 7 p. m. in the North School on Friday, December 1.

Your 35c ticket entitles you to look. You are not obliged to buy, but we wager that when you see all those attractive books priced from 50c up you'll remember your Christmas list as well as your children's needs.

This month's PTA foreward quotes the New York Herald-Tribune Book Review: "He who buys a child a good book buys a share in the future. It is a good investment."

An acquaintance with new books and old favorites is yours Friday night at the PTA Book Fair. The books are there for you to examine.

It's an education. . .

Memorial mass held for E. G. Dearie

Memorial mass in honor of Lt. Edward G. Dearie, who was killed in action August 30, was held at St. James church, Arlington Heights Saturday, November 25 at 9:30 a. m. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Dearie, Jr., 126 Park Lane, Arlington Heights.

Besides his parents he leaves two brothers, Jerome and Charles, who is in the navy and three sisters, Jane, Joan and Mrs. Charles Calvin.

The service was attended by many out-of-town friends.

Palatine veteran druggist retires

Otto Schroeder, Palatine veteran druggist, has sold his business to Ludwig Vesely of Berwyn, who has taken immediate possession. Mr. Schroeder was born in Palatine, spent his boyhood there and took his apprentice training under the late A. S. Olms.

6th war loan salesmen get busy

There have been no spectacular bond purchases in Arlington Heights 6th war loan drive, but solicitors report that persons called upon seem to realize the responsibility of the folks at home. The heavy fighting in progress on the western front with possible increased casualties to be announced later, has sobered many a home to the fact that buying of war bonds is the least that folks away from the battle fields can do to help win this war.

A great deal of credit is to be given to the men and women who are giving so generously of their time in order to canvas every home in Arlington Heights. All of the district chairmen have been selected. Those not previously announced are:

Southwest side are S. A. Baker, chairman and A. Neville, co-chairman.

Rural districts, J. F. Meyer and C. H. Mills, who have done splendid work in previous bond drives and are now making the necessary appointments to cover and canvass the large agricultural and residential areas outside the village limits.

The business district is again being solicited by local business men whose energetic response has contributed liberally toward the success of the first five drives. The following men have the equipment, supplies, information and names of corporation and business men to contact: Julius Flentie, Max Warson, Fred Gieseke, Ed Fritz, Geo. Volz, Aubrey Neville, Irving Tesch, Walter Krause, Ray Landmeier, C. W. Lussmann and Art Franzen. Favorable reports are already coming in from early made solicitations.

Girl Scout drive nets $800

Mr. K. W. Kennedy and Mr. Wm. Walton, who were in charge of the Girl Scout financial drive just completed, announce that the response from the village was most gratifying. They particularly thank the captains and solicitors for so willingly giving their time. About 65 workers helped make the drive a success.

The money collected will be used to maintain the Girl Scout organization and will permit necessary expansion to include all Arlington Heights girls who wish to be scouts.

The total collection to date with a few items not reported is $796.95. There were about 550 individual contributions, and the response from business houses and organizations was most generous.

The Girl Scouts is a girl's organization, but dads as well as the mothers entered wholeheartedly into the campaign—for which credit should be given to:

Ray Atkinson, O. M. Baldwin, Capt., K. Barnhill, Mrs. Bates, H. Blume, T. Brif, R. C. Bruner, F. Busse.

Woman killed husband injured in auto accident

A Cadillac car being driven northwest on Rand road Saturday by Joe Colucci, Chicago, crashed into the rear of a Ford being driven by Howard Morton of Palatine near the County Line and Rand roads. Mrs. Morton was pinned under the car, sustaining possible skull fracture and internal injuries which caused her death Wednesday morning.

An inquest will be held Thursday morning at the Danielsen-Tharp funeral home.

Mr. Morton only received lacerations and bruises and is recovering.

The Mortons were on their way to the home of their near neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder with a load of groceries in anticipation of celebrating a birthday. They had nearly reached the Snyder home when they were hit by the heavier car which turned over their Ford several times.

Plan tuberculin tests in January

With the Arlington Heights Health Center and the high school Board of Education cooperating, the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County are again laying plans for the annual tuberculin testing program in the local schools. Because of the intervening holidays the date has been postponed until January 15, 1945. The portable X-ray apparatus will be here January 29 to take chest X-rays of all postive reactors of this year and of previous years. It is important that students who graduated from high school who had a positive test be re-x-rayed at least once a year so no pathology will develop.

The tuberculin test is a painless skin test which shows whether the tubercle bacilli have entered the body. It does not necessarily mean that the individual has tuberculosis. However, it is important that the positive reactor have a chest X-ray taken as soon as possible to rule out the possibility of there being a tubercular condition present.

Any one of the community who has been in contact with a known tubercular patient may be X-rayed at this time by making arrangements with Mrs. Carroll, the community nurse.

The tuberculin test is offered without charge. $1.00 must be paid for the X-ray to cover actual film used.

Homo Milk to distribute Pet Milk products

The Homo Milk Company, Arlington Heights, recently incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois will start operations Dec. 2 and patrons of many milk stores and dairies will again be able to secure Pet Milk products.

The company, which is an entire new organization, holds the exclusive contract for the distribution of such products. It is owned by the dealers who will handle the product. John Randag is manager and treasurer.

Mr. Randag is receiving congratulations over his success in organizing the new company, and the establishment of the headquarters in Arlington. Its operation means increased buying power and more business for local stores. The company has secured the former quarters of the Pet Milk Co.

Saturday proved to be a lucky day for Mrs. Ira Parker, 608 Burton Place, Arlington Heights. Because her husband was able to answer two questions on the "Ladies Be Smart" program, hubby has $15 and Mrs. Parker will have a $500 fur coat.

They had the radio turned on as they were enjoying their Saturday morning breakfast of parker house rolls. Suddenly the announcer stated that because he had failed to get answers on three Chicago numbers called, he would try the suburbs. Imagine their surprise when the next number to be called was Arlington Heights 751. The two Parkers were ready to pick up the receiver as soon as the phone rang.

The first question, worth fifteen dollars, was "How many notes in a musical scale?" After answering this correctly Mr. Parker took a chance on the $500 fur coat question "What son of what President was Minister to England, Secretary of War, and President of the Pullman Company?" The answer, Robert Cod Lincoln" was not too difficult for Mr. Parker to answer as Mrs. Parker's father, Mr. Paul Dana, had had a bachelor apartment with Robert Cod Lincoln, son of Abraham Lincoln, Wm. Burry and Lester Carter several years ago.

Mr. Parker was able to answer the first question because during his early college days at Ripon, Wis., he displayed unusual ability as a mandolin player. He is also a talented soloist and has been a member of the Mendelssohn Club in Chicago for years. Mrs. Parker reports it meets every Tuesday night. He organized a quartet in Arlington Heights which was enjoyed by all who heard them sing. He is now auditor and assistant secretary of the Great Northern Life Insurance Co.

Mr. Parker has been Secretary of the Scarsdale Property Owners Association and the Arlington Heights Garden Club. He plays a very important part in the activities of the Methodist church and choir.

Their many friends have flooded them with congratulations.

His class motto at Ripon was "Many are called but few can give the right answer".

The answer to the next question —"Who is the lady in that beautiful new fur coat?" will be "Why that's the charming Mrs. Ira Parker."

Congratulations to the Parkers!

Lions eat turkey

At their Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday evening, November 21, the Arlington Heights Lions had as their guests their "lady friends" who were given a preview of the goings on at the Lutheran school each first and third Tuesday. Turkey and all the trimmings was served in inimitable style by the ladies of the Dorcas Aide.

Among other guests was the District Governor Stanley Sebby, who gave a short talk, complimenting the members of Arlington Heights on the fine work they have been doing in placing their club among the top ranking clubs of the district. During the dinner music was supplied by the Arlington Heights high school stringed ensemble under the direction of Mr. Costain.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Axel Christensen of the Chicago School of Music. In addition to being an accomplished pianist, Mr. Christensen is an able story teller and imitator. His characterization of "The Count" fresh from Denmark was an evening's entertainment in itself.

The "ladies night" is an annual event with the Lions Club and everyone in attendance voted this year's event the best ever.

SIXTH WAR LOAN

CHICAGO and COOK COUNTY — WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS

OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

The Sixth War Loan Drive is on in Arlington Heights--as in every other city, town, and village, as well as the rural areas, throughout our country.

Our quota is $100,000. Purchases by corporations are invited, but only purchases by individuals and other non-corporate buyers will count in the fulfillment of our local quota.

It is not a sacrifice to buy War Bonds. It is simply sound common sense. The war is not over. Your purchases will assist in its financing, but they will also--

1. Provide you a prime investment from which you will receive an income in cash or appreciation in value, depending upon the bond you select, and

2. Help hold the line against price inflation, a point that we cannot emphasize too strongly.

A Victory Volunteer, one of your patriotic neighbors, will call on you. Welcome him and buy that extra War Bond. Enclosed is a booklet containing information about the popular Series E Bond and other bonds being offered in this campaign. Look it over, plan your purchases, and buy generously.

Give a WAR BOND for Christmas.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Henry B. Evans new cashier at Arlington National

Directors of the Arlington Heights National Bank have secured as cashier Henry B. Evans, for fifteen years with a bank at Warrenville, DuPage county. Mr. Evans is a graduate of the University of Illinois, where he majored in agriculture and commerce, which ideally fit him for cashier of a bank with a farming and business clientele.

Mr. Evans has been personally known for many years to the president and several of the directors of the Arlington bank who feel that they are fortunate in securing a man of his caliber.

The new cashier expects to bring his family to Arlington next week occupying the Stade residence at 202 South Highland. Mr. and Mrs. Evans have two sons.

Arlington village buys $1,000 war bond

The village of Arlington Heights invested for the third time $750 of its water fund into a U. S. war bond. The board at its last meeting authorized the purchase. It had previously purchased bonds in that amount in the 4th and 5th drives. The bonds have not been cashed.

The village water department is operated separate from other departments of the village and conducted on a business basis is paying a profit, which the village officials think could not be placed to better advantage than as an investment in the war effort.

Fire department surprises owner of forgotten iron

When Mrs. Fred J. Meier, 21 S. Walnut street, Arlington Heights, left her ironing to chat with a neighbor last Friday evening, she had no thoughts of a surprise party. The fire department staged the surprise a short time later. A passerby had turned in a fire alarm.

Mrs. Meier had left an electric iron turned on. The iron set the ironing board afire, sparks fell into a basket of clothes and a fire was nicely started by the time the fire fighters arrived. Mrs. Meier was still at the neighbors when the apparatus arrived in front of her home.

War fund still 5 per cent short

Stuart W. Cochran, chairman of the Suburban Division, today urged residents of the entire suburban area to help the Community and War Fund, which represents the National War Fund locally, make a "Victory March" for the last 5 per cent of its quota of $12,980,000.

Cochran pointed out that every penny of its goal is needed by the Community and War Fund. He said that huge demands have been made upon the War Relief Funds by, among other things, the Philippine invasion, the spread of war on the western front and the robot bombings in England.

Glenview youth missing in Philippines

News was received last week that Reinhardt Sternberg of Glenview was missing in action in the Pacific. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sternberg, route 1, Des Plaines.

Machinist mate third class Sternberg served aboard a destroyer, the USS Johnston, which was sunk by enemy action in the recent naval battle of the Philippines. Hope is held for his rescue.

Reinhardt entered the navy January 7, 1943, taking his boot training at Great Lakes. He was then sent to University Farm Camps at St. Paul, Minnesota, for 16 weeks, earning his machinist mate's rating. Before entering service he was a student at Northbrook high school.

Final 1944 income payment extended to January 15

Income taxpayers who have been paying their 1944 income tax on a quarterly basis were surprised this week when they received the customary forms and found that the last payment will be due Jan. 15, 1944, in place of Dec. 15, 1944.

The date of final payment was changed in the latest income tax revision and will enable tax payers to more accurately estimate the amount of tax that will be due for the entire year. Some may be able to file their full return at that time in place of waiting until March 15.

Employees subject to withholding tax, will find that the amounts to be deducted from their salary checks will be somewhat larger after Jan. 1st. The new simplified income tax does not reduce the amount of such tax except in cases of large families.

On our desk

Palatine, Nov. 19, 1944.
Paddock Publications
Sirs:

A timely warning should be sounded now re the danger of rifles in the hands of youngsters and oldsters. The distance a rifle bullet carries is generally overlooked.

Last fall a rifle bullet went through the window of the house behind us and if the lady had been sitting in her favorite chair, she would have been killed. Another rifle bullet punctured the body of a car parked between our house and barn. The neighbors dog was shot in the leg and had to be killed. This spring when rabbits were bothering the Victory Gardens a rifle bullet went through a cow's udder in the pasture across the street. A carpenter making repairs to the building across the street was almost shot, the bullet coming so close that the man felt the wind of its passing.

Several years ago a man spreading manure from a wagon was just missed by a rifle bullet fired through a copse of trees. All of this happened on less than 40 acres of ground.

No one likes to spoil anothers fun but the confined quarters of a subdivision make rifle practice dangerous.

Johanna Metzler.

PERSONAL PROPERTY LIST

The personal property list of Wheeling township appears in the Arlington Heights Herald this week. The amounts shown are full valuation.

Palatine new National Bank opens Saturday

The new Palatine National Bank opens for business Saturday, December 2.

For the Palatine community the opening of the new bank is a dream come true.

Ever since the early days of the depression when both Palatine banks were forced to close, together with thousands of others throughout the country, the question in Palatine has been "when will we have a bank?" At last the question is answered.

Backed by a group of men who live in Palatine and who have faith in the Palatine of the present and the future, the new bank opening will be a gala occasion.

There will be girls handing out flowers to the ladies and there will be cigars for the men.

The opening day will be "open house" from 9:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended by the bank officials to the entire community to come in and pay them a visit and get acquainted with the new bank family.

The bank opening also coincides with the opening of the Sixth War Loan Drive in Palatine and the Palatine National Bank will be ready to take care of purchases of war bonds and will, together with the post office, be a clearing house for the redemption of pledges for bonds secured by the flying squadrons of canvassers who will cover the entire township within the next few days.

The officers of the bank are John G. Ford, president; Stanley F. Pepper, vice president, and Warren C. Kohler, cashier. Mr. Ford and Mr. Pepper of Inverness have resided in the Palatine area long enough to be sold on the town. Cashier Kohler comes to Palatine from the Arlington Heights National Bank. In addition to the above the directors are Roy L. LaLonde, O. J. Martinson, Arthur T. McIntoshe, Way Thompson, Frank Wente and C. A. Wynne.

For the present the bank employees will number three. Cashier Kohler will be assisted by Mrs. Helen Ullock of Palatine and Miss Dorothy Hoeft, of Arlington Heights.

Banking hours will be 9:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. daily except Wednesday when the bank closes at noon. In order to meet the demand for evening hours in a farming community, the National Bank will also be open Saturday evenings from 6:00 to 8:00 o'clock.

The building and quarters of the new bank have been passing thru a rejuvenating process and looks as "good as new". This has been possible because equipment of the original National Bank was kept by the depositor's committee for just such an occasion. That committee has had to wait twelve years to see its judgment vindicated.

Those who participated in the building trust will have broad smiles when they receive checks very shortly for the amount they invested and approximately 20% interest.

Palatine National Bank offers the same protection to the depositor as any other bank in the country. It is a member of the Federal Reserve System and a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation which gives federal guarantee of deposits placed therein.

Ray Holtze new Palatine highway commissioner

Roy Holtze is the new highway commissioner of Palatine township.

Commissioner Leo Brommelkamp resigned to take another position and the town board appointed Mr. Holtze to fill the vacancy.

The new road boss assumes his duties December 1.

Mr. Holtze has had much experience in road work and was for years the right hand man of former commissioner Henry Roper.

Residents of Palatine township will find the new commissioner a capable and efficient road man.

Mr. Brommelkamp has done a fine job since he was appointed to fill the vacancy made by Mr. Roper's death but the chance for a better job has taken Leo into other fields of work.

Returns from leave 14 days too soon; sent back home

SM 3-c Ray Zyc, Palatine, is probably the first navy man who ever returned from a furlough to his base two weeks ahead of time. When he reported back to base in California after being home on furlough two weeks ago, he learned that somebody had made a mistake and he should have stayed home a month instead of fifteen days. Ray telegraphed home and caught the first plane, but grounded in Texas, he decided that train was faster than air and he arrived in Palatine Monday evening.

Bring him back sooner - Buy Bonds.

Buy victory bonds—bonds buy victory

There is no substitute for victory, and there can be no let down on the battle front or the home front until victory is won. We ask so much from our fighting men. Many are giving life and limb. We are asked merely to lend our money. Truly a small price for the privilege of being a citizen of our great land.

We hope that we soon will witness the triumphal return of our men in uniform. On that great day we will have to take account of ourselves. Will we be able to watch the colors pass and know that we have done our full part? No one is compelled to buy bonds, except by the dictates of his own conscience. The fact that War Bonds offer the best investment that is possible to make, is in itself reason enough to buy to the limit of our ability.

Sam Campbell at high school December 10

Sam Campbell will be at Arlington Heights Sunday evening, December 10. He will show his colored films and give his lecture "Out Where the West Begins". The evening will be one of pure enjoyment for everyone who has taken trips through the Badlands of Dakota, the Black Hills, the Yellowstone and others of nature's unique and beautiful areas of our great northwest. For those who haven't as yet made such a trip, this showing will be next to it. You cannot afford to miss it. It's Sam Campbell at his best and that is saying the ultimate.

To avoid a confusion and a duplication of dates this lecture is being given under the joint auspices of the Dad's Club and the Ladies Aid of the local Presbyterian church. Sam Campbell is sponsored by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co.

The admission is adults 35c, grade children 15c. The place is the high school at 8:15 p. m. December 10.

Make this a must date. You will be glad you did.

Arlington gas station held up by youth Saturday morning

The Virgil Horath gas station, Northwest highway, Arlington Heights, was held up at 2:30 Saturday morning by two youths who had spent seven hours getting up sufficient amount of courage to do the job. Mr. Crane, 84, who acts as night attendant at the station reported to the police that the lads first appeared at 7:30 p. m., returning at 10:30 when they purchased a quart of oil. The cash register is not used at night and the proferred $1.00 bill in payment enabled the boys to learn where Mr. Crane kept his money.

About 2:30 the boys returned a third time asking the purchase of an item in the show case. As Crane leaned over the case, one boy pressed a gun in his ribs and the other pointed a gun at his head. He was told "be quiet and you will not be hurt." A quantity of gas stamps and between $30 and $40 in cash was taken.

St. John's presents three one-act plays this week-end

The Youth Fellowship of St. John's are working very hard in preparation for their forthcoming plays November 30 and December 1 under the able direction of Mrs. Edward Fritz, Mrs. W. F. Kamphenkel and Miss Virginia Deering.

Each play promises to be highly entertaining. "Billie's First Date" brings out the amusing incidents of a boys problems about dating. "Never Trust A Man" displays how easily words can be misconstrued. "Ask Nancy" portrays the importance character plays in impressions. The cast for these plays has been carefully chosen and consists of twenty-one league members.

Tickets may be obtained from any league member at 40c for adults and 20c for children up to 12 years of age.

Jr. Woman's club benefit card party next week

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club are sponsoring a benefit card party at the North Side public school next week Friday, December 8. The Junior women's philanthropic fund will benefit from the proceeds, with festivities scheduled to start at 8 p. m.

Tickets may be purchased from any club member, or can be obtained by calling president Ruth Busse, 1352-M, party chairman Margaret Harris, 69-M, or ticket chairman Lucille Mayhew, 114-W evenings.

Waste Paper Day

Arlington Heights boy scouts will collect waste paper Saturday. They are depending upon all households to have their supply out on the curbs early Saturday morning.

Township will not kick in on nurse fund

Village will assume the additional cost

On the plea that the yearly payment of $350 for the Arlington Heights community nurse would be illegal and that such payment might result in criticism on the part of outside taxpayers, the township of Wheeling has officially disclaimed any responsibility for the health fund the last two years.

A letter from Supervisor Klehm setting forth their position was read to the Arlington Heights village board at its last regular meeting. The village will make no attempt to collect this money and will make up the deficiency from its own funds. "The Arlington Heights health program," stated Mayor Goedke, "is too important to allow it to be jeopardized by the action of the township officials."

New chairman of health committee

The Arlington Heights Health Committee met recently and recommended the appointment of Mrs. Arthur Blaschke as chairman of the health committee taking the place of Mrs. Paul Carroll, who is now the community nurse. Mildred Russell was selected as treasurer. Mrs. Chas. Bloecker is the new member at large.

Each civic organization has a representative on the committee which handles health matters and is the contact between the local nurse and governing bodies.

The recommendation of the committee was referred to Mayor Goedke, who made their appointment official at the village board meeting Nov. 20.

The village board held a lengthy meeting Monday night discussing status of outside property which desires connection with the local sewer system. The discussion was "off the record" but it seemed to be the general opinion that the quickest and easiest way for owners of outside property to secure sewer and drainage service is to make application to become part of the incorporated village.

It's an education . . .

Your 35c ticket entitles you to look. You are not obliged to buy, but we wager that when you see all those attractive books priced from 50c up you'll remember your Christmas list as well as your children's needs.

This month's PTA foreward quotes the New York Herald-Tribune Book Review: "He who buys a child a good book buys a share in the future. It is a good investment."

An acquaintance with new books and old favorites is yours Friday night at the PTA Book Fair. The books are there for you to examine.

Besides his parents he leaves two brothers, Jerome and Charles, who is in the navy and three sisters, Jane, Joan and Mrs. Charles Calvin.

The service was attended by many out-of-town friends.

Palatine veteran druggist retires

Otto Schroeder, Palatine veteran druggist, has sold his business to Ludwig Vesely of Berwyn, who has taken immediate possession. Mr. Schroeder was born in Palatine, spent his boyhood there and took his apprentice training under the late A. S. Olms.

6th war loan salesmen get busy

There have been no spectacular bond purchases in Arlington Heights 6th war loan drive, but solicitors report that persons called upon seem to realize the responsibility of the folks at home. The heavy fighting in progress on the western front with possible increased casualties to be announced later, has sobered many a home to the fact that buying of war bonds is the least that folks away from the battle fields can do to help win this war.

A great deal of credit is to be given to the men and women who are giving so generously of their time in order to canvas every home in Arlington Heights. All of the district chairmen have been selected. Those not previously announced are:

Southwest side are S. A. Baker, chairman and A. Neville, co-chairman.

Rural districts, J. F. Meyer and C. H. Mills, who have done splendid work in previous bond drives and are now making the necessary appointments to cover and canvass the large agricultural and residential areas outside the village limits.

The business district is again being solicited by local business men whose energetic response has contributed liberally toward the success of the first five drives. The following men have the equipment, supplies, information and names of corporation and business men to contact: Julius Flentie, Max Warson, Fred Gieseke, Ed Fritz, Geo. Volz, Aubrey Neville, Irving Tesch, Walter Krause, Ray Landmeier, C. W. Lussmann and Art Franzen. Favorable reports are already coming in from early made solicitations.

Girl Scout drive nets $800

Mr. K. W. Kennedy and Mr. Wm. Walton, who were in charge of the Girl Scout financial drive just completed, announce that the response from the village was most gratifying. They particularly thank the captains and solicitors for so willingly giving their time. About 65 workers helped make the drive a success.

The money collected will be used to maintain the Girl Scout organization and will permit necessary expansion to include all Arlington Heights girls who wish to be scouts.

The total collection to date with a few items not reported is $796.95. There were about 550 individual contributions, and the response from business houses and organizations was most generous.

The Girl Scouts is a girl's organization, but dads as well as the mothers entered wholeheartedly into the campaign—for which credit should be given to:

Ray Atkinson, O. M. Baldwin, Capt., K. Barnhill, Mrs. Bates, H. Blume, T. Brif, R. C. Bruner, F. Busse.

"Grow old with me"

by C. W. LUSSMAN of Sieburg Pharmacy

The poet, Robert Browning, said: "Grow old along with me —the best is yet to be."

Few people really believe this. They are convinced that advancing age means all the ailments that human beings are heir to, and very little enjoyment of living.

Good health insures lasting good things to all, no matter how white the head may become, no matter what the calendar says about one's age. One may not step out as eagerly as in youth, one may not be as active athletically, but one may live and enjoy the blessings of the table, of sound and refreshing sleep, of pleasant and congenial companionship with people — if one remains well.

Local interest is key to inflation curb in U. S.

Well organized, active local interest is the key to successful full control of inflation, according to the local War Price and Rationing Board, who today announced participation in the nation-wide Grocer-Consumer Anti-Inflation Campaign.

Grocers' associations and community groups everywhere are uniting to support the efforts of local war price and rationing boards to hold the price line both now and in the post-war period, the board chairman said.

"So far we have done well. In spite of tremendous inflationary pressures, food prices have risen only about half as much during this war as during World War I.

"Since retail price control went into action in March, 1942, food prices have risen only about 15 per cent. During the past year and a half they have been held stable."

Now, however, we face a critical period, the chairman continued. Almost half the inflation of the last war came after the Armistice he reminded.

Grocers, he pointed out, are taking the lead in sponsoring the Anti-Inflation Campaign since about 40 per cent of the money the average family spends goes for food. Local grocers, doing their part, are posting community price lists where their customers can read them easily and are inviting customers to check ceiling prices.

Store Cotton

In storing cotton, it is good policy to put it just in front of the door of the cotton house. The next afternoon the cotton can be moved back just far enough to make room for the day's picking. Then, on the third day, it can be moved back still farther. Turning the cotton in this way several times allows it to dry out properly and get in good condition for ginning.

Electricity goes to 400 more farms

More than 400 new farm customers were added to the rural electric lines of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois during the first nine months of 1944 pushing the total number of farm and rural units served with electricity past the 24,800 mark for the first time in the company's 33-year history of bringing electric power to farmers.

The company reported that farm electric customers are being added wherever applicants can justify their wartime need for electricity under war production board regulations. This year's additions to date lengthened the company's rural power lines by 50 miles to bring total mileage to more than 6,260 across a 16-county area in which approximately 86 per cent of the farms now have electricity available.

Reflecting the greater use of electricity in the production of foods for the war, the company also reported an average kilowatt hour use per farm customer of 2,362 for the year ended September 30 as compared with 2,181 a year earlier.

Electric work-saving equipment listed as helping to speed farm production in northern Illinois included pig and chick brooders; milking machines, milk coolers, and milk stirrers; water warmers; water pumps; feed grinders and mixers; grain elevators; hay hoists; lighting in the farm buildings; and, more recently, hay drying.

May recalculate security benefits

Miss Ellen McGuire, manager of the Evanston Office of the Social Security Board, has explained the effect of the Board's announcement that upon request it will recalculate the amount of old-age and survivors insurance benefits available to once-retired workers to include credit for wages received since the benefits were first claimed.

"This action," Miss McGuire said, "is intended to take into account the fact that many workers past the age of 65, who have retired and drawn benefits, have gone back to work since the country started its preparation for war. Originally, these workers, by filing a claim, set their benefits so that they could not be moved up or down. But they returned to work unexpectedly, and generally have received higher wages than before. The Board has therefore announced that, in order to meet the intent of the law, their benefits may be recomputed in order to credit towards monthly retirement benefits the wages they received after they had once filed a claim."

Banks plan aid to servicemen

Returning War Veterans can be assured that the banks in Illinois will cooperate with them in every way possible. Illinois bankers, along with those all over the nation, appreciate the sacrifices men in our Armed Services are making, not only their hardships on the battlefront, wounds, sickness and even death, but for those who return the sacrifice of social and economic time will be hard for them to make up.

The Illinois Bankers Association recently authorized the appointment of a special Committee to service the Veterans banking interests in Illinois in cooperation with a similar committee of the American Bankers Association.

"G. I. Joe," said Floyd Condit, president of the Association, "is very prominent in our plans. The Bill of Rights which Congress passed on his behalf is far from perfect. The Veterans Bureau which is charged with the administration of that law, has much to contend with on account of its imperfection, but in spite of these problems the banks will meet G. I. Joe more than half way."

Unemployment Benefit

The average benefit for total unemployment in 1943 was $13.84 a week.

6 major advantages for industry in this area...

Northern Illinois has always been a foremost industrial area . . . in peace as well as wartime. Yes, a region where industries find it to their advantage to locate. Because here, rail, truck, water and air traffic converge. Here, within a radius of a few hundred miles, is the marketing and distributing center for nearly one-half the nation's population.

In this area, manufacturers have easy access to basic metals and raw material. Here is one of the world's leading financial centers. Here, too, are electric power plants of vast capacity to serve industries and farms as well as commercial establishments and homes.

Indeed, Northern Illinois is a great region today . . . and will be even greater tomorrow. Its favorable combination of economic factors makes it a region where established industries and new enterprises can thrive in the post-war period.

"Grow old with me"

by C. W. LUSSMAN of Sieburg Pharmacy

The poet, Robert Browning, said: "Grow old along with me —the best is yet to be."

Few people really believe this. They are convinced that advancing age means all the ailments that human beings are heir to, and very little enjoyment of living.

Good health insures lasting good things to all, no matter how white the head may become, no matter what the calendar says about one's age. One may not step out as eagerly as in youth, one may not be as active athletically, but one may live and enjoy the blessings of the table, of sound and refreshing sleep, of pleasant and congenial companionship with people — if one remains well.

Let the doctor advise on how to grow old healthfully. Let a trusted druggist assist with perfect medication.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Ancient and Modern Necromacy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism Denounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 26.

The Golden Text was, "In the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities: but fear thou God" (Ecc. 5: 7).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For these be the days of vengeance, that all things which are written may be fulfilled. . . . And there shall be . . . distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken. . . . And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh" (Luke 21: 22, 25, 26, 28).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The breaking up of material beliefs may seem to be famine and pestilence, want and woe, sin, sickness, and death, which assume new phases until their nothingness appears. These disturbances will continue until the end of error, when all discord will be swallowed up in spiritual Truth. . . . Love will finally mark the hour of harmony, and spiritualization will follow, for Love is Spirit" (p. 96).

Everything was fine. Thank you.

Your new method is excellent. The clothes smell so sweet and clean.
— Mrs. E. Behrens, Des Plaines.

My laundry has been nicely done. I am very happy to be a Park Lane customer. — G. Grindley, Des Plaines.

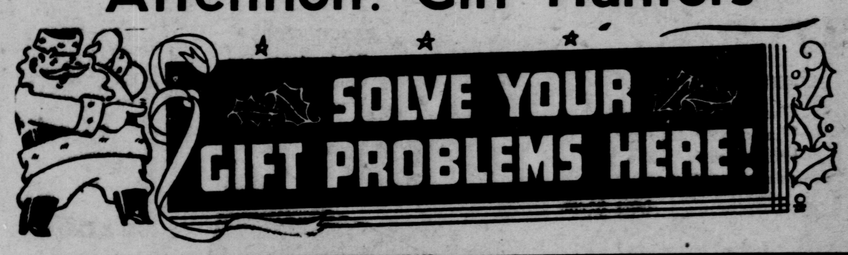

What's nicer around Christmas time than to have your wash as white and fresh as snow. Park Lane's new method of centrifugal laundering does a marvelous job for you. Isn't that a wonderful gift at Christmas time? You'll say, "Of Course" . . . but just remember you'll be getting this kind of laundry work all the year round from now on.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Ancient and Modern Necromacy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism Denounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 26.

The Golden Text was, "In the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities: but fear thou God" (Ecc. 5: 7).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For these be the days of vengeance, that all things which are written may be fulfilled. . . . And there shall be . . . distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken. . . . And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh" (Luke 21: 22, 25, 26, 28).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The breaking up of material beliefs may seem to be famine and pestilence, want and woe, sin, sickness, and death, which assume new phases until their nothingness appears. These disturbances will continue until the end of error, when all discord will be swallowed up in spiritual Truth. . . . Love will finally mark the hour of harmony, and spiritualization will follow, for Love is Spirit" (p. 96).

— Mrs. E. Behrens, Des Plaines.

My laundry has been nicely done. I am very happy to be a Park Lane customer. — G. Grindley, Des Plaines.

What's nicer around Christmas time than to have your wash as white and fresh as snow. Park Lane's new method of centrifugal laundering does a marvelous job for you. Isn't that a wonderful gift at Christmas time? You'll say, "Of Course" . . . but just remember you'll be getting this kind of laundry work all the year round from now on.

Glencoe school community expert at PTA

People interested in and connected with the Arlington Heights schools felt pride in the unity of their schools and their community as they listened to Mrs. Kathleen Ammerman, principal of Central school in Glencoe speak on "The Community School" at the Nov. 18 PTA meeting.

Mrs. Ammerman emphasized the important roles individual parents and teachers play in planning for and working toward the growth of children.

Mrs. Snetzinger, director of music in the Arlington Heights schools presented a mixed chorus and David Warner of Mt. Prospect sang, accompanied by Mrs. Richard Lull.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Girl Scouts. The seventh grades were reponsible for refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Just Around the Corner

By Eleanor Milstead

Many of my nickles go for nothing. But last year I gave a nickle to Good Will for a book that has been like a light house in the uncertain waters of my motherhood. It was published back in 1930 and is titled "The Modern Parent" and sub titled "A Practical Guide to Everyday Problems". Its author, Garry Cleveland Myers, writes that parents often impose their selfish wish for credit and reflected glory on the behavior patterns of their children. He says that most children have little expectation of being allowed to answer questions for themselves, that they are treated with a disrespect and discourtesy that would, if used in our relationships with adults, quickly leave us completely friendless. He points out that we require a perfection of our children which our attitude toward them makes doubly impossible. I have frequently been a little desperate in dealing with a difficult son. I have wondered what corrections I could make in handling him to decrease the difficulty and make our child-parent positions more satisfactory and gratifying. I have turned back to the pages of my nickle book for help. I tried, really tried, one day last week to follow the suggestions made in the prayer for parents with which the book is summarized. I was educated by the agonizing effort I spent to keep my resolution, but even in one day results of the trial were edifying. I was horrified, as I watched myself, to think that Ken Jr. might use me as an example for his conduct and thought and expression. I'm trying to mend my ways as I mend his. Here's the prayer:

Oh, Jehovah, make me a better parent. Teach me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say and to answer all their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them, talking back to them and contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Give me the courage to confess my sins against my children and to ask of them forgiveness when I know that I have done them wrong.

May I not vainly hurt the feelings of my children. Forbid that I should laugh at their mistakes or resort to shame and ridicule as punishment. Let me not tempt my child to lie and to steal. So guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. May I cease to nag; and when I am out of sorts, help me, O Lord, to hold my tongue.

Blind me to the little errors of my children and help me to see the good things that they do. Give me a ready word for honest praise.

Help me to grow up with my children, to treat them as those of their own age; but let me not expect of them the judgments and conventions of adults. Allow me not to rob them of the opportunity to wait upon themselves, to think, to choose and to make decisions.

Forbid that I should ever punish them for my selfish satisfaction. May I grant them all their wishes that are reasonable and have the courage to withhold a privilege which I know will do them harm.

Make me so fair and just, so considerate and companionable to my children that they will have genuine esteem for me. Fit me to be loved and imitated by my children.

With all thy gifts, O Great Jehovah, give me calm and poise and self control.

SKOKIE

Miinnie Schumacher, who died intestate in Chicago November 8, left an estate of $22,000, all in personal property. Her heirs are her brother and a nephew the latter being Earl Pahanke, of Skokie.

Ernest Bright, of Barrington, has sued his wife, Marion, in Superior court for divorce. They were married in Crown Point Ind., Jan. 27, 1940. They have a daughter, aged three years.

Joseph A. Woolf has sued Eleanor Woolf in Circuit court for divorce. He states they were married in Des Plaines August 15, 1939.

Joseph Tierney weds Josephine Castellarin

St. Kevins church in South Chicago was the scene of a lovely autumn wedding on Saturday afternoon when Joseph Tierney, son of Mrs. Margaret Tierney, 305 E. Circle ave., Prospect Heights, was united in marriage to Miss Josephine Castellarin, daughter of Joseph Castellarin of South Chicago. The ceremony was performed at 3:00 o'clock by Father McNulty of St. Kevins church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long white brocaded satin gown with a sweetheart neckline, a Juliet cap to which her long veil was fastened and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and a white orchid.

Miss Helen Tierney was maid of honor and wore a dubonnet satin dress with a full net skirt, and carried a colonial bouquet. Peter Castellarin, brother of the bride, was best man, and Fred Jungbluth was one of the ushers.

A reception and dinner was held at Peter Levents for about 125 guests. Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. V. Koldgie, Mrs. G. Tierney and Jerry Tierney of St. Louis, Mo. Those from Prospect Heights attending the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jungbluth, Grover Jungbluth, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Foor, James Wright, Dr. and Mrs. Royal Fitch, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stuprich, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Allord, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gildemeister and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weber.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lamb were celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary on Sunday, so as a surprise to them, Joseph Tierney arranged for the orchestra to play the Anniversary Waltz for them at the stroke of twelve.

The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon in St. Louis, and upon their return will make their home in Prospect Heights.

Irene Lubenow bride of Werner Kastning

Miss Irene Lubenow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lubenow, of Lemont, became the bride of Werner Kastning of Palatine, in a candle light service at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, November 11, at the Evangelical Lutheran church, Downers Grove. Rev. Milton A. Reinke officiated at the single ring ceremony which was performed before the altar decorated with palms and cut flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a gown of ivory satin, beaded sweetheart neckline and styled with a long train. She wore a finger tip veil held by a heart shaped crown. Her bridal bouquet was an armful of white roses mixed with tiny chrysanthemums, also showers tied with chrysanthemums. A pearl necklace and ear rings, which was a gift from the groom, was the only jewelry she wore. The groom's gift from the bride was a genuine sardonyx intaglio ring in yellow gold with one cut diamond in a beaded square.

Miss Bernice Lubenow, Lemont, served her sister as maid of honor in a gown of blue with matching tiara, and her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Walter Boughton, Willow Springs, and Miss Marion Heinemann, Arlington Heights, acted as bridesmaids, wearing dresses of peach and aqua respectively and each carried a bouquet of white and pink chrysanthemums with matching tiaras. The bride's gift to each of her attendants was a strand of pearls with matching earrings.

Albert Kastning, Roselle, served his brother as best man and Robert and Elmer Lubenow, Lemont, brothers of the bride acted as ushers.

Mrs. Martin Zarn, Downers Grove, played several selections on the organ preceding the ceremony and Miss Betty Scamehorn, Arlington Heights, sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Both the bride and groom's mothers wore blue dresses with corsages of red roses and chysanthemums. The bride's three younger sisters each wore tiny button mum corsages. Also the groom's sisters wore a button corsage.

Following the service a reception was held at Carlton Hall, Westmont, for 200 guests.

Dressing unit honors Mrs. Parker

At the meeting of the St. James surgical dressing unit, under the direction of Mrs. Fitzpatrick, the members gave a birthday party for Mrs. Parker, whose birthday was on Thanksgiving this year. Everything was done to make the passing of the eightieth milestone a memorable event. The table was draped in linen instead of the usual paper, and decorated with white chrysanthemums and candles.

A beautiful cake, ice cream and coffee were served after the birthday song. After the party the members signed the birthday card and went back to work for another two hours.

A B-29 BOMBER COSTS $600,000

Remember the thrill when this famous bomber made its first great raid on Japan's steel center? Well, a lot more B-29s are needed to finish the job. And that's where your War Bonds come in!

6th WAR LOAN

YES, only bombs and shells make any impression on Japanese minds. So before this war is won we've got to blast them with more than they can possibly take. Sure, it's going to be expensive. But that's what this 6th War Bond Drive is for—to provide money for the B-29s, the battleships and transports and tank landing boats that will ram this war right back down the Japs' throats. It Happened Here

It is a pleasant pastime, thinking of interesting ramblings of the long ago and the people who were the happy ramblers. How about Johnny Appleseed? What a fascinating ramble he must have had, taking his time, wandering wherever his roving feet led, stopping at the humble homes of pioneer home makers, seeing the homemaking with a fresh and friendly eye and repaying hospitality by the scattering of his precious seeds. Accompanying Johnny on his long ago tramps would have been fun because he had such a jolly excuse for his meanderings; it isn't every gentleman of the road had such worthy and wholly delightful reasons for being afoot, besides being able to leave a memorial in blossomy, fruit bearing trees. Another memorable rambler, back in the beginning of the past century, was William Bartram who tramped thru the wilderness of Kentucky, Virginia and the Blue Ridge, foot loose in a virgin loveliness of streams and woods whose equal could not be found any where else on the globe. Because he was a trained and scientific observer, his incomparable diary of that walking tour has given us a vivid picture of our lost heritage; he lets us see thru his eyes the trees, flowers, plants and wild life of a fresh, new world; if he had had the skill of an artist, he would have left us something to treasure along with Audubon's bird sketches. And who would not gladly have been Audubon's companion in his wanderings?

A Christian Science Lecture

Recently the First Church of Christ, Scientist of Arlington Heights sponsored a lecture on Christian Science which was free to the public. The lecture was given in the Arlington Heights Township High School Auditorium and was addressed by Richard J. Davis, CSB of San Jose, California, an authorized lecturer on Christian Science sent out by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist of Boston, Massachusetts. The following are excerpts from the lecture:

I think we all realize that one of the main reasons why religion has a place in the thought of mankind is the hope that it may be able to bring some measure of comfort and release from suffering and distress. It is their sorrows and difficulties which impel human beings to turn for relief to something outside of themselves. Religion, if it is to fulfill its function today, must very definitely present an adequate and completely satisfying solution to distraught humanity. If God is to have real meaning for us, then His omnipotence and omnipresence must be recognized as practically available, right where human beings seem to be. If religion is to fulfill its purpose, it is evident that it must present a God and an understanding of divinity that is reasonable and altogether satisfactory. That understanding of God must be able to touch and help you and me right where we seem at present to be.

There is a familiar hymn, the words of which so tenderly express the compassionate appeal of Christian Science:

"Come, ye disconsolate, where'er ye languish,
Here health and peace are found,
Life, Truth, and Love;
Here bring your wounded hearts, here tell your anguish;
Earth has no sorrow but Love can remove.

"Joy of the desolate, light of the straying,
Hope of the penitent, fadeless and pure;
Here speaks the Comforter, tenderly saying,
Earth has no sorrow that Love cannot cure."

For many years, the teaching and practice of Christian Science have been bringing healing and consolation to thousands of sick and unhappy people. Every person who today is enjoying a better sense of health, happiness, and spiritual freedom because of Christian Science will tell you that he owes these benefits to the consecrated and devoted life of one woman, Mary Baker Eddy. I would not myself be here today were it not for the healing power and operation of divine law as revealed in Christian Science.

In the fifteenth chapter of Luke, Jesus, dwelling upon the paramount necessity of finding the kingdom of heaven or understanding of God, tells us of a woman who, having lost a valuable piece of silver, lit a candle, swept her house, and sought diligently until she found it. After which, she called in her friends and neighbors to rejoice with her in the recovery of that which had been lost. It was in this same manner that Mary Baker Eddy, realizing that the spirit and practical understanding of Jesus' life and works had for centuries been lost, lit her candle, devoted herself to a spiritual study of the Scriptures, swept her consciousness clean of outgrown and faulty theological concepts, and through spiritual inspiration discovered that precious thing, the lost element of spiritual healing.

The Comforter or Christ

Mrs. Eddy's study of the Bible confirmed her conclusion that Jesus' life and works, exemplified in his healings, were not miraculous nor supernatural, but that they indicated and revealed the existence of an operative divine Principle, active and appearing in all ages, practically available today in meeting the pressing needs of humanity. She perceived the tremendous significance to you and me of Jesus' promise when he said: "I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you."

She recognized that the promised Comforter was Divine Science, the Science of Christ, the divine idea of God, and that the Christ, when understood and demonstrated, would lead all mankind into a knowledge of the truth. She recalled, too, how Jesus had said that the Christ or Comforter, appearing impersonally as the spiritual idea of God, would instruct, teach, and also spiritually explain —"bring to remembrance"—what he had said when on earth. It is interesting to note that Jesus also said, "It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you." In this statement, the Master was clearly explaining that the human, corporeal concept of the saving Christ must disappear before the Comforter could appear or be revealed.

This discovery and understanding of the ever-present Christ, or Comforter, Mrs. Eddy named Christian Science, and she set forth the laws and rules of its application in her textbook, which she titled "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

Christian Science reveals God as the one self-existent, intelligent Cause, supreme Being or Mind. All true Science, therefore, must have its origin in that one infinite Mind. It should be noted, however, that Christian Science is the absolute truth of being, brought to bear upon the belief of human existence. It always touches humanity. The object of Christian Science is to prove the power and presence of God in human affairs. That is its purpose; that is why it was revealed.

Through her revelation and study of the Scriptures, Mrs. Eddy saw that Jesus demonstrated, in his life and character, the correlation that exists between God and man, that inseparable unity indicated in his statement, "I and my Father are one." To those who could not understand, his healings and his mighty works were inexplicable and mysterious, but they nevertheless indicated that he possessed a scientific and spiritual knowledge of God, available to every man here and now.

Blessing Our Enemies

If you and I are, as Christian Science teaches, reflections of divine Love, it follows that our every thought must be beneficent in its nature—a blessing to all. It is important at this hour, both for our health and safety, that we do not fail to have the right metaphysical approach to the world problem.

It is the earnest desire of every Christian Scientist to demonstrate the brotherhood of man and to hasten the day of universal peace and amity among nations, but there is nothing in the Tenets of the Christian Science religion to justify its adherents in becoming pacifists or conscientious objectors. With the rights of free nations invaded, and our own national honor and liberty attacked, as loyal citizens we stand ready to defend our heritage as a free people. Both individually and collectively, we are taking every right human footstep in that direction. The aggressors on the rights of mankind must be met with courage and determination. It is our sincere desire, however, that all men shall be free, including our so-called enemies. We recognize that it is important that they be freed from the manipulation of the evil mentality and the wicked motives that have led them into aggression.

In the light of Christian Science, we see that we are not working for a victory over human enemies, but for a victory over evil. There can and should be no victory except for and by Principle, and that kind of victory will bless all, including our alleged enemies. The declaration of King David is truly scientific, "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all."

We have usually thought of enemies as persons, external or apart from ourselves, but Jesus said that a man's foes were those of his own household, meaning his mental household or consciousness. In order to have enemies, one must necessarily entertain a belief in haters—one must accept hate and malicious thinking as realities in his own consciousness. In her inspired article entitled "Love Your Enemies," Mrs. Eddy asks (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 8): "Who is thine enemy that thou shouldst love him? Is it a creature or a thing outside thine own creation? . . . Simply count your enemy to be that which defiles, defaces, and dethrones the Christ-image that you should reflect."

At the very time when mortal thinking was declaring that Christ Jesus was the victim of hate and malice, we find him saying, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do." This was the conscious refusal on his part to believe in enemies. He refused to be identified with any such belief. Detaching and separating evil from his concept of God and man, Jesus held without wavering to the perfection of being. His illumined spiritual sense saw no enemies and knew none. Then, today, is it not our protection and safety to refuse to entertain enemy concepts—pictures of men, hostile and contending, capable of hating and injuring, of men endowed with the power or motive to do wrong?

Even in the midst of war, it is our duty not to hate, but to so detach evil from man as to free him from his wicked beliefs. The real culprit is mortal mind—the belief that man has a mind or life apart from God. Since Jesus saw perfection, so must we. Enemies, and the fear of enemies, disappear in the face of that consciousness which knows only the infinity of Love. This realization, that Love is infinite and omnipresent, strikes right at the root of war. Indeed it is the cure for war. It denies and annuls every belief of dissension, division, and discord, and establishes the divine fact that all of God's ideas are now and forever united in the brotherhood of Love.

It Happened Here

It is a pleasant pastime, thinking of interesting ramblings of the long ago and the people who were the happy ramblers. How about Johnny Appleseed? What a fascinating ramble he must have had, taking his time, wandering wherever his roving feet led, stopping at the humble homes of pioneer home makers, seeing the homemaking with a fresh and friendly eye and repaying hospitality by the scattering of his precious seeds. Accompanying Johnny on his long ago tramps would have been fun because he had such a jolly excuse for his meanderings; it isn't every gentleman of the road had such worthy and wholly delightful reasons for being afoot, besides being able to leave a memorial in blossomy, fruit bearing trees. Another memorable rambler, back in the beginning of the past century, was William Bartram who tramped thru the wilderness of Kentucky, Virginia and the Blue Ridge, foot loose in a virgin loveliness of streams and woods whose equal could not be found any where else on the globe. Because he was a trained and scientific observer, his incomparable diary of that walking tour has given us a vivid picture of our lost heritage; he lets us see thru his eyes the trees, flowers, plants and wild life of a fresh, new world; if he had had the skill of an artist, he would have left us something to treasure along with Audubon's bird sketches. And who would not gladly have been Audubon's companion in his wanderings?

A Christian Science Lecture

Recently the First Church of Christ, Scientist of Arlington Heights sponsored a lecture on Christian Science which was free to the public. The lecture was given in the Arlington Heights Township High School Auditorium and was addressed by Richard J. Davis, CSB of San Jose, California, an authorized lecturer on Christian Science sent out by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist of Boston, Massachusetts. The following are excerpts from the lecture:

I think we all realize that one of the main reasons why religion has a place in the thought of mankind is the hope that it may be able to bring some measure of comfort and release from suffering and distress. It is their sorrows and difficulties which impel human beings to turn for relief to something outside of themselves. Religion, if it is to fulfill its function today, must very definitely present an adequate and completely satisfying solution to distraught humanity. If God is to have real meaning for us, then His omnipotence and omnipresence must be recognized as practically available, right where human beings seem to be. If religion is to fulfill its purpose, it is evident that it must present a God and an understanding of divinity that is reasonable and altogether satisfactory. That understanding of God must be able to touch and help you and me right where we seem at present to be.

There is a familiar hymn, the words of which so tenderly express the compassionate appeal of Christian Science:

"Come, ye disconsolate, where'er ye languish,
Here health and peace are found,
Life, Truth, and Love;
Here bring your wounded hearts, here tell your anguish;
Earth has no sorrow but Love can remove.

"Joy of the desolate, light of the straying,
Hope of the penitent, fadeless and pure;
Here speaks the Comforter, tenderly saying,
Earth has no sorrow that Love cannot cure."

For many years, the teaching and practice of Christian Science have been bringing healing and consolation to thousands of sick and unhappy people. Every person who today is enjoying a better sense of health, happiness, and spiritual freedom because of Christian Science will tell you that he owes these benefits to the consecrated and devoted life of one woman, Mary Baker Eddy. I would not myself be here today were it not for the healing power and operation of divine law as revealed in Christian Science.

In the fifteenth chapter of Luke, Jesus, dwelling upon the paramount necessity of finding the kingdom of heaven or understanding of God, tells us of a woman who, having lost a valuable piece of silver, lit a candle, swept her house, and sought diligently until she found it. After which, she called in her friends and neighbors to rejoice with her in the recovery of that which had been lost. It was in this same manner that Mary Baker Eddy, realizing that the spirit and practical understanding of Jesus' life and works had for centuries been lost, lit her candle, devoted herself to a spiritual study of the Scriptures, swept her consciousness clean of outgrown and faulty theological concepts, and through spiritual inspiration discovered that precious thing, the lost element of spiritual healing.

The Comforter or Christ

Mrs. Eddy's study of the Bible confirmed her conclusion that Jesus' life and works, exemplified in his healings, were not miraculous nor supernatural, but that they indicated and revealed the existence of an operative divine Principle, active and appearing in all ages, practically available today in meeting the pressing needs of humanity. She perceived the tremendous significance to you and me of Jesus' promise when he said: "I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him; but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you."

She recognized that the promised Comforter was Divine Science, the Science of Christ, the divine idea of God, and that the Christ, when understood and demonstrated, would lead all mankind into a knowledge of the truth. She recalled, too, how Jesus had said that the Christ or Comforter, appearing impersonally as the spiritual idea of God, would instruct, teach, and also spiritually explain —"bring to remembrance"—what he had said when on earth. It is interesting to note that Jesus also said, "It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you." In this statement, the Master was clearly explaining that the human, corporeal concept of the saving Christ must disappear before the Comforter could appear or be revealed.

This discovery and understanding of the ever-present Christ, or Comforter, Mrs. Eddy named Christian Science, and she set forth the laws and rules of its application in her textbook, which she titled "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

Christian Science reveals God as the one self-existent, intelligent Cause, supreme Being or Mind. All true Science, therefore, must have its origin in that one infinite Mind. It should be noted, however, that Christian Science is the absolute truth of being, brought to bear upon the belief of human existence. It always touches humanity. The object of Christian Science is to prove the power and presence of God in human affairs. That is its purpose; that is why it was revealed.

Through her revelation and study of the Scriptures, Mrs. Eddy saw that Jesus demonstrated, in his life and character, the correlation that exists between God and man, that inseparable unity indicated in his statement, "I and my Father are one." To those who could not understand, his healings and his mighty works were inexplicable and mysterious, but they nevertheless indicated that he possessed a scientific and spiritual knowledge of God, available to every man here and now.

Blessing Our Enemies

If you and I are, as Christian Science teaches, reflections of divine Love, it follows that our every thought must be beneficent in its nature—a blessing to all. It is important at this hour, both for our health and safety, that we do not fail to have the right metaphysical approach to the world problem.

It is the earnest desire of every Christian Scientist to demonstrate the brotherhood of man and to hasten the day of universal peace and amity among nations, but there is nothing in the Tenets of the Christian Science religion to justify its adherents in becoming pacifists or conscientious objectors. With the rights of free nations invaded, and our own national honor and liberty attacked, as loyal citizens we stand ready to defend our heritage as a free people. Both individually and collectively, we are taking every right human footstep in that direction. The aggressors on the rights of mankind must be met with courage and determination. It is our sincere desire, however, that all men shall be free, including our so-called enemies. We recognize that it is important that they be freed from the manipulation of the evil mentality and the wicked motives that have led them into aggression.

In the light of Christian Science, we see that we are not working for a victory over human enemies, but for a victory over evil. There can and should be no victory except for and by Principle, and that kind of victory will bless all, including our alleged enemies. The declaration of King David is truly scientific, "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all."

We have usually thought of enemies as persons, external or apart from ourselves, but Jesus said that a man's foes were those of his own household, meaning his mental household or consciousness. In order to have enemies, one must necessarily entertain a belief in haters—one must accept hate and malicious thinking as realities in his own consciousness. In her inspired article entitled "Love Your Enemies," Mrs. Eddy asks (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 8): "Who is thine enemy that thou shouldst love him? Is it a creature or a thing outside thine own creation? . . . Simply count your enemy to be that which defiles, defaces, and dethrones the Christ-image that you should reflect."

At the very time when mortal thinking was declaring that Christ Jesus was the victim of hate and malice, we find him saying, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do." This was the conscious refusal on his part to believe in enemies. He refused to be identified with any such belief. Detaching and separating evil from his concept of God and man, Jesus held without wavering to the perfection of being. His illumined spiritual sense saw no enemies and knew none. Then, today, is it not our protection and safety to refuse to entertain enemy concepts—pictures of men, hostile and contending, capable of hating and injuring, of men endowed with the power or motive to do wrong?

Even in the midst of war, it is our duty not to hate, but to so detach evil from man as to free him from his wicked beliefs. The real culprit is mortal mind—the belief that man has a mind or life apart from God. Since Jesus saw perfection, so must we. Enemies, and the fear of enemies, disappear in the face of that consciousness which knows only the infinity of Love. This realization, that Love is infinite and omnipresent, strikes right at the root of war. Indeed it is the cure for war. It denies and annuls every belief of dissension, division, and discord, and establishes the divine fact that all of God's ideas are now and forever united in the brotherhood of Love.

Philippines

Now in the Philippines is Richard Taege of Arlington Heights.

"Undoubtedly you folks at home have read about the invasion of the Philippines. One can't imagine how anything could stay alive on an island after a navy bombardment. Our troops have the situation well in hand, so things are pretty safe.

"Only thing that bothers us now is Jap strafing and bombing. I've been through quite a number of them and always run for my foxhole when they come too close for comfort.

"Our planes shot down a bunch of Jap planes the other day and I believe it's one of the most thrilling sights I've ever seen. Burning Jap planes could be seen falling in every direction. Old Tojo is in for a lot more to come, too.

"I was honor guard for General MacArthur the day he issued the Proclamation of the Philippines."

His address is S/Sgt. Richard H. Taege, 36302251, APO 201, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

A graphic description of just what an Army band does in combat is contained in a commendation by Maj. Gen. O. W. Griswold, commander of the XIV Army Corp, of the 292nd Army Ground Forces Band, formerly the 147th Infantry Regiment band. Pvt. Bob Koch of Palatine is a member of this band.

The commendation is for service in the Southwest Pacific from April 1, 1942, to Sept. 30, 1944, and reads:

"At their first overseas station the band members trained as machine gunners and in other combat jobs in addition to their regular concert appearances over the entire island. When the regiment went into combat on Guadalcanal, the bandsmen laid aside their instruments and toiled tirelessly as members of ration and ammunition carrying parties supplying the front lines and as litter bearers evacuating wounded under fire and across difficult jungle terrain.

"Throughout the entire period the 292nd Army Ground Forces Band has provided outstanding musical entertainment for the troops at the bases where it has been stationed. On numerous occasions it has made an average of more than 30 appearances a month, including numerous stage shows. The tireless efforts of all members of the band have made possible the many and excellent programs which at all times have been a great morale-sustaining factor for the troops of all the services who have been entertained."

Another veteran of over a year's service in the South Pacific arrived home in Prospect Heights in time to enjoy Thanksgiving Day dinner with his wife, Emily. He is Lt. (j. g.) Edward Dresselhuys, who has been on invasions from his base at Hawaii. He is a liaison officer with the navy.

Philippines

From the Philippines comes word of Norman Pfortmiller of Roselle.

"I'll just drop a few lines to let you know that my address has changed once more. It is APO 321 again. The same address I had some time ago. They just moved the postal unit over here.

"I've heard a great deal about the Philippines, and they don't quite come up to my expectations. The natives are a lot better and cleaner than any of those we've seen in New Guinea. They are very friendly, and are certainly a happy bunch of people. I believe most of them have been hiding in the hills most of the time. We have been giving some of them clothing, and they offer to pay for it. Several of them seem to have fair sums of money.

"They bring live chickens into camp, and give them to the fellows. They also bring in fresh eggs, a few pineapples and bananas. They say that the Japs took most of this fruit with them as they fled. They also tell how most of their cattle and live stock was killed. All in all I'd say they lived a very rough life.

"Many of the natives talk very good English. They say they learned this from American teachers who were over here before the war broke out.

"The towns are very badly run down and battered. I guess the Japs didn't worry any about the care of the buildings.

"I don't remember if I mentioned it in my last letter or not, but I was lucky enough to meet S/Sgt. Stanley Bokelmann, my cousin. This was at APO 920. We spent several fine visits with each other. He still looked the same to me.

"I'll say hello to all of the other fellows in service, as well as all of the town folks."

His address is S/Sgt. Norman Pfortmiller, 36322588, APO 321, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Washington

From Walla Walla, Washington, comes word of Steve Stefanik of Arlington Heights.

"Just about through with our training here and will be shipping out to POE pretty soon now. Don't think we'll get a furlough before going over so it will be quite some time before I see good old Arlington again.

"The weather up here has been very bad for flying the past week so we have been getting quite a bit of 'sack time' and also passes to town. When we do fly we stay up for 6 or 7 hours at a time and it sure gets plenty cold up there about 20,000 feet. Sometimes it gets down to about 35 degrees below zero. Even though we have winter flying suits on we still are cold, especially our feet and hands. Being a radio operator it's pretty hard to pound a key with cold hands. When we get down on the ground the equipment is covered with frost.

"Walla Walla is a fair sized city of about 23,000, but there isn't much to do in town except bowl or shoot pool or perhaps take in a movie. You know whiskey is rationed up here, a pint a week and that doesn't last very long. Of course they sell beer but it doesn't compare to our brands back home.

"Most of the girls in town are brass happy, they chase after the young flight officers and lieutenants. You know there are four officers and six enlisted men on each crew so there are about as many officers as G. I.'s on this field."

His address is Cpl. S. M. Stefanik, Sqd T-3 AAF, Walla Walla, Washington.

With Uncle Sam

France

Destroying 51 enemy fighters in a single day, pilots of the pioneer P-51 Mustang fighter group of the Ninth Air Force zoomed past the 500 victory mark to set a new European Theater of Operations record for time in service. Thirty-eight were brought down in aerial dogfights, another record, and 13 were destroyed on the ground. A squadron commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Robert W. Stephens, St. Louis, Mo., set a new unit high, getting 25 of the "kills."

Arlington Heights member of the Pioneer group is Staff Sergeant Gojko T. Spasojevich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spasojevich, 332 Palatine Road.

He is a Mustang mechanic in the squadron commanded by Colonel Bradley. Prior to entering the service in May, 1942, he was a Railroad Track inspector, in Chicago. He graduated from Lake View high school, Chicago.

Commanded by Colonel George R. Bickell, Nutley, N. J., the Pioneer group is part of the Nineteenth Tactical Air Command. Its pilots were the first to escort bombers on attacks against strategic industrial targets deep inside Germany. Three times they set the fighter record for distance on missions to Kiel, Bordeaux, and Berlin. They were the first to fly the Mustang on strafing and dive bombing attacks against enemy troop concentrations and other installations in France, Belgium, and Germany. Since the offensive in France they have flown fighter sweeps in direct support of Allied ground forces, and area patrols to search out and destroy enemy aircraft.

Belgium

From Belgium comes word of Clarence McElhose of Arlington Heights.

"I thought I'd drop you a line to let you know where I am. I was in England 4 months, France one month, and I am now in Belgium. I sure have seen a lot of country since I left the states. The weather here is about the same as back home. It is cold now and expect snow any day.

"I have learned a few French phrases. I have a French-English dictionary which has common phrases in it.

"We are located in quite a large town. We sleep in a Chateau so it's not bad. I am on steady guard duty at the gate. I have met quite a few swell people that way. Every morning they bring me coffee and cake. I also have a lady to do my washing and I eat over at her home for dinner. The people make me feel at home.

"Richard Wilke, my second cousin, is with me and has been since I left the Etates. He is a cook and does a swell job of cooking.

"I receive the Herald every week and sure like to read 'with Uncle Sam.' I was sorry to read that Bill Langhorst was injured in France. I wish I could get his address to write to him.

"Here is my address if anyone cares to write to me." It is:

Pvt. Clarence McElhose, 36740959 APO 350, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Chanute

Home on leave over the week end from Denver, Colorado, was Pvt. William Watson of Prospect Heights. He has been transferred to Chanute Field, where he is taking further training as a teletype operator.

Georgia

Home for four days from Savannah, Georgia, was Lt. Lester Bennett of Arlington Heights. Lt. Bennett has been in service two years, and is a pilot of a flying fortress. He returned Tuesday.

Dutch East Indies

From the Netherlands East Indies comes word of Alfred Pressl of Prospect Heights.

"Congratulations on the second anniversary of your (With Uncle Sam) Department. My copy of the Anniversary Edition was delivered a few days ago, late but nevertheless a welcome arrival.

"In your recapitulation of the number and origin of the various letters received from those in the Service, I see no mention of the Netherlands East Indies. Possibly by this time you have heard from this area, but if not, as a member of the local Chamber of Commerce, may I submit the name of this 'chunk' of coral?

"I have been overseas since March 1944 and in August joined my unit APO 920. The Aviation Engineers are less familiar to the folks back home than many other organizatiions but are highly commended by those in the Armed Forces.

"They have contributed greatly to the success of our operations in all theatres. Their accomplishments at restoring captured air strips and plane dispersal areas are particularly noteworthy. Often this task of grading, filling in, leveling and surfacing has been carried on under enemy fire. Through their efforts the Aviation Engineers have enabled our Air Force to drive wedges deeper into the defenses of the opposition. Their work is not confined to air strips but includes the construction and maintenance of docks, loading jetties, roads, buildings of all types, the clearing of campsites, installation of drainage systems, repair and conversion of capturned equipment or any other task encountered.

"Our unit is one of the Aviation Engineer Battalions whose men have received a commendation for the performance of duty while subjecting themselves to heavy enemy fire. In carrying out the assignment referred to they were forced to remove their equipment repeatedly from a newly won air strip as Japanese mortar, machine gun and rifle fire sought them out. Casualties were suffered, but these men returned at every opportunity and had the strip in condition to receive our aircraft within 48 hours after their arrival.

"The above has been written without the slightest intention of minimizing the work of other organizations, all of whom are doing a tremendous job. Its sole purpose is to obtain a little recognition of a hitherto unsung member of our great team. No credit is due the writer, as I am employed in administrating rather than equipment operations. Aside from my regular duties I represent this Battalion in securing news items and articles for publications in the States. These are cleared through our Public Relations office, and forwarded to the home town newspapers of the various men.

"Many thanks for your thoughtfulness in sending me your interesting paper. I'll tag along with you in the hope that subsequent issues of Paddock Publications can be read within the confines of our respective homes. The light is a great deal better."

Colorado

Scott Field

Oahu

From Oahu comes word of Jack Wiese of Arlington Heights.

"Am still in Hawaii, but am tired of it. After you're away from home a while nothing looks as good as Arlington. Now that the election is over we should see more action on the war front.

"Sure wish I could be home for the holidays. I miss that change in the weather. I would never want to live in a climate like this, for your blood thins out and you lose your pep.

"Have been bowling about two nights a week, with a present average of 175. My biggest trouble is to find a ball each time that will fit me. Expect to start night school two nights a week soon, so should have enough to keep me busy.

"That was quite a shellacking Notre-Dame took from Army. That Army-Navy game should be quite a battle."

Philippines

Now in the Philippines is Richard Taege of Arlington Heights.

"Undoubtedly you folks at home have read about the invasion of the Philippines. One can't imagine how anything could stay alive on an island after a navy bombardment. Our troops have the situation well in hand, so things are pretty safe.

"Only thing that bothers us now is Jap strafing and bombing. I've been through quite a number of them and always run for my foxhole when they come too close for comfort.

"Our planes shot down a bunch of Jap planes the other day and I believe it's one of the most thrilling sights I've ever seen. Burning Jap planes could be seen falling in every direction. Old Tojo is in for a lot more to come, too.

His address is S/Sgt. Richard H. Taege, 36302251, APO 201, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

A graphic description of just what an Army band does in combat is contained in a commendation by Maj. Gen. O. W. Griswold, commander of the XIV Army Corp, of the 292nd Army Ground Forces Band, formerly the 147th Infantry Regiment band. Pvt. Bob Koch of Palatine is a member of this band.

The commendation is for service in the Southwest Pacific from April 1, 1942, to Sept. 30, 1944, and reads:

"At their first overseas station the band members trained as machine gunners and in other combat jobs in addition to their regular concert appearances over the entire island. When the regiment went into combat on Guadalcanal, the bandsmen laid aside their instruments and toiled tirelessly as members of ration and ammunition carrying parties supplying the front lines and as litter bearers evacuating wounded under fire and across difficult jungle terrain.

"Throughout the entire period the 292nd Army Ground Forces Band has provided outstanding musical entertainment for the troops at the bases where it has been stationed. On numerous occasions it has made an average of more than 30 appearances a month, including numerous stage shows. The tireless efforts of all members of the band have made possible the many and excellent programs which at all times have been a great morale-sustaining factor for the troops of all the services who have been entertained."

Another veteran of over a year's service in the South Pacific arrived home in Prospect Heights in time to enjoy Thanksgiving Day dinner with his wife, Emily. He is Lt. (j. g.) Edward Dresselhuys, who has been on invasions from his base at Hawaii. He is a liaison officer with the navy.

Panama

Changing his address in Panama is Martin Jaacks of East Maine. His address is Cpl. Martin Jaacks, 36346414, APO 826, % PM, New Orleans, La.

Philippines

From the Philippines comes word of Norman Pfortmiller of Roselle.

"I'll just drop a few lines to let you know that my address has changed once more. It is APO 321 again. The same address I had some time ago. They just moved the postal unit over here.

"I've heard a great deal about the Philippines, and they don't quite come up to my expectations. The natives are a lot better and cleaner than any of those we've seen in New Guinea. They are very friendly, and are certainly a happy bunch of people. I believe most of them have been hiding in the hills most of the time. We have been giving some of them clothing, and they offer to pay for it. Several of them seem to have fair sums of money.

"They bring live chickens into camp, and give them to the fellows. They also bring in fresh eggs, a few pineapples and bananas. They say that the Japs took most of this fruit with them as they fled. They also tell how most of their cattle and live stock was killed. All in all I'd say they lived a very rough life.

"Many of the natives talk very good English. They say they learned this from American teachers who were over here before the war broke out.

"The towns are very badly run down and battered. I guess the Japs didn't worry any about the care of the buildings.

"I don't remember if I mentioned it in my last letter or not, but I was lucky enough to meet S/Sgt. Stanley Bokelmann, my cousin. This was at APO 920. We spent several fine visits with each other. He still looked the same to me.

"I'll say hello to all of the other fellows in service, as well as all of the town folks."

His address is S/Sgt. Norman Pfortmiller, 36322588, APO 321, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

From Walla Walla, Washington, comes word of Steve Stefanik of Arlington Heights.

"Just about through with our training here and will be shipping out to POE pretty soon now. Don't think we'll get a furlough before going over so it will be quite some time before I see good old Arlington again.

"The weather up here has been very bad for flying the past week so we have been getting quite a bit of 'sack time' and also passes to town. When we do fly we stay up for 6 or 7 hours at a time and it sure gets plenty cold up there about 20,000 feet. Sometimes it gets down to about 35 degrees below zero. Even though we have winter flying suits on we still are cold, especially our feet and hands. Being a radio operator it's pretty hard to pound a key with cold hands. When we get down on the ground the equipment is covered with frost.

"Walla Walla is a fair sized city of about 23,000, but there isn't much to do in town except bowl or shoot pool or perhaps take in a movie. You know whiskey is rationed up here, a pint a week and that doesn't last very long. Of course they sell beer but it doesn't compare to our brands back home.

"Most of the girls in town are brass happy, they chase after the young flight officers and lieutenants. You know there are four officers and six enlisted men on each crew so there are about as many officers as G. I.'s on this field."

His address is Cpl. S. M. Stefanik, Sqd T-3 AAF, Walla Walla, Washington.

France

Destroying 51 enemy fighters in a single day, pilots of the pioneer P-51 Mustang fighter group of the Ninth Air Force zoomed past the 500 victory mark to set a new European Theater of Operations record for time in service. Thirty-eight were brought down in aerial dogfights, another record, and 13 were destroyed on the ground. A squadron commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Robert W. Stephens, St. Louis, Mo., set a new unit high, getting 25 of the "kills."

Arlington Heights member of the Pioneer group is Staff Sergeant Gojko T. Spasojevich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spasojevich, 332 Palatine Road.

He is a Mustang mechanic in the squadron commanded by Colonel Bradley. Prior to entering the service in May, 1942, he was a Railroad Track inspector, in Chicago. He graduated from Lake View high school, Chicago.

Commanded by Colonel George R. Bickell, Nutley, N. J., the Pioneer group is part of the Nineteenth Tactical Air Command. Its pilots were the first to escort bombers on attacks against strategic industrial targets deep inside Germany. Three times they set the fighter record for distance on missions to Kiel, Bordeaux, and Berlin. They were the first to fly the Mustang on strafing and dive bombing attacks against enemy troop concentrations and other installations in France, Belgium, and Germany. Since the offensive in France they have flown fighter sweeps in direct support of Allied ground forces, and area patrols to search out and destroy enemy aircraft.

All members of the Pioneer group wear the coveted blue and gold Presidential unit citation ribbon awarded them, "for outstanding performance against the enemy."

Belgium

From Belgium comes word of Clarence McElhose of Arlington Heights.

"I thought I'd drop you a line to let you know where I am. I was in England 4 months, France one month, and I am now in Belgium. I sure have seen a lot of country since I left the states. The weather here is about the same as back home. It is cold now and expect snow any day.

"I have learned a few French phrases. I have a French-English dictionary which has common phrases in it.

"We are located in quite a large town. We sleep in a Chateau so it's not bad. I am on steady guard duty at the gate. I have met quite a few swell people that way. Every morning they bring me coffee and cake. I also have a lady to do my washing and I eat over at her home for dinner. The people make me feel at home.

"Richard Wilke, my second cousin, is with me and has been since I left the Etates. He is a cook and does a swell job of cooking.

"I receive the Herald every week and sure like to read 'with Uncle Sam.' I was sorry to read that Bill Langhorst was injured in France. I wish I could get his address to write to him.

"Here is my address if anyone cares to write to me." It is:

Pvt. Clarence McElhose, 36740959 APO 350, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Chanute

Home on leave over the week end from Denver, Colorado, was Pvt. William Watson of Prospect Heights. He has been transferred to Chanute Field, where he is taking further training as a teletype operator.

Georgia

Home for four days from Savannah, Georgia, was Lt. Lester Bennett of Arlington Heights. Lt. Bennett has been in service two years, and is a pilot of a flying fortress. He returned Tuesday.

Dutch East Indies

From the Netherlands East Indies comes word of Alfred Pressl of Prospect Heights.

"Congratulations on the second anniversary of your (With Uncle Sam) Department. My copy of the Anniversary Edition was delivered a few days ago, late but nevertheless a welcome arrival.

"In your recapitulation of the number and origin of the various letters received from those in the Service, I see no mention of the Netherlands East Indies. Possibly by this time you have heard from this area, but if not, as a member of the local Chamber of Commerce, may I submit the name of this 'chunk' of coral?

"I have been overseas since March 1944 and in August joined my unit APO 920. The Aviation Engineers are less familiar to the folks back home than many other organizatiions but are highly commended by those in the Armed Forces.

"They have contributed greatly to the success of our operations in all theatres. Their accomplishments at restoring captured air strips and plane dispersal areas are particularly noteworthy. Often this task of grading, filling in, leveling and surfacing has been carried on under enemy fire. Through their efforts the Aviation Engineers have enabled our Air Force to drive wedges deeper into the defenses of the opposition. Their work is not confined to air strips but includes the construction and maintenance of docks, loading jetties, roads, buildings of all types, the clearing of campsites, installation of drainage systems, repair and conversion of captured equipment or any other task encountered.

"Our unit is one of the Aviation Engineer Battalions whose men have received a commendation for the performance of duty while subjecting themselves to heavy enemy fire. In carrying out the assignment referred to they were forced to remove their equipment repeatedly from a newly won air strip as Japanese mortar, machine gun and rifle fire sought them out. Casualties were suffered, but these men returned at every opportunity and had the strip in condition to receive our aircraft within 48 hours after their arrival.

"The above has been written without the slightest intention of minimizing the work of other organizations, all of whom are doing a tremendous job. Its sole purpose is to obtain a little recognition of a hitherto unsung member of our great team. No credit is due the writer, as I am employed in administrating rather than equipment operations. Aside from my regular duties I represent this Battalion in securing news items and articles for publications in the States. These are cleared through our Public Relations office, and forwarded to the home town newspapers of the various men.

"Many thanks for your thoughtfulness in sending me your interesting paper. I'll tag along with you in the hope that subsequent issues of Paddock Publications can be read within the confines of our respective homes. The light is a great deal better."

Colorado

Now at Scott Field, Illinois, is Edward Blaskiewicz of Prospect Heights. Edward was formerly stationed at Sherman Field, Kansas. His address is S/Sgt. Edward J. Blaskiewicz, SO 24 P3. 103rd AACS, Scott Field, Ill.

Oahu

From Oahu comes word of Jack Wiese of Arlington Heights.

"Am still in Hawaii, but am tired of it. After you're away from home a while nothing looks as good as Arlington. Now that the election is over we should see more action on the war front.

"Sure wish I could be home for the holidays. I miss that change in the weather. I would never want to live in a climate like this, for your blood thins out and you lose your pep.

"Have been bowling about two nights a week, with a present average of 175. My biggest trouble is to find a ball each time that will fit me. Expect to start night school two nights a week soon, so should have enough to keep me busy.

"That was quite a shellacking Notre-Dame took from Army. That Army-Navy game should be quite a battle."

Philippines

Another letter from the Philippines comes this week from Roland Fenz of Roselle. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fenz.

"Things are still going strong as you know by the news. We just hit another camp. We stay at one for a couple of days, sometimes more, sometimes less. Food still is as good as can be under these circumstances.

"We had quite a heart tugging exhibition when we first came to this particular spot. A group of Filipinos (about 20) all of a sudden appeared while we were setting up. The leader was so happy and exclaimed it many times. The whole bunch let out a cheer 3 times 'Long live the Americans' then 'they come so the Filipinos can live'.

"This bunch had just come out of the hills where they'd been since the Japs came in '41, so you can imagine their genuine pleasure. They offered their services in any way we could use them. The next day some brought us rice, corn and fruit, bananas, peanuts and what have you.

"The little children are simply the cutest things ever. While they are yet small, they learn to carry things on their heads which is about the only way they ever carry things. It's truly amazing the loads they carry, even old men and women 60 and 70 years old. It's not at all uncommon (in fact usually so) to see the women carry loads following the men who have nothing.

"Another oddity is smoking. Little boys 5-6 smoking and old women also—cigars for old women are quite frequent.

"A few are lucky and have water cows or buffaloes with which to drag their loads but most of them have none.

"The guerrillas of the islands are quite interesting to converse with. They had faith and confidence in Americans and knew we would be back. Now that we are, they are freshly supplied with ammunition, etc. They prefer killing Japs with their bolo knife because it is quieter. If it were not for the hundreds and hundreds of these Filipino guerrillas it would indeed be a difficult job here.

"Yes the Filipino people are indeed very likeable people and a good people. They will, however, tell you of their intense hatred of the Japanese for their many cruelties and atrocities. I could tell you of many of them but it would not be pleasant so you shall be spared. We still go without mail and without barrack bags which is quite understandable."

His address is Pfc. Roland Fenz, 16172228, APO 201 % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

L. O. K.

Now on the move to destination unknown is Hans Heuer of Palatine. Hans was formerly stationed at Fort George Meade, Maryland.

"This is to tell you not to send the paper for awhile. I'm on the move again and it'll be some time before I'm set. I'll send you my new address as soon as possible.

"It's going to be kind of tough not getting the Enterprise every week any more. I've enjoyed it immensely but just can't seem to express my pleasure in words. Thanks a million."

Now aboard his ship somewhere on the high seas is Bob Jensen of Palatine. Bob left Norfolk the first of November to take up his new duties as first lieutenant aboard his ship. He did have a chance to fly home before leaving, however. His address is Ens. Robert E. Jensen, USNR, % FPO, New York, N. Y.

France

From France this week comes word of Al Duenn of Arlington Heights.

"You can now call me a noncombatant soldier. I have been in the hospital for two months and the major told me I wouldn't see any more front line duty. I don't know just what kind of rear echelon job I'll get, probably in the post office or something.

"I won't be able to write to the Herald any more about combat experiences but I'm not sorry. I've seen all I want to see and I think they can find someone else to take my place. Have dropped weight from 170 to 130."

His address is Cpl. Albert E. Duenn, 36003998, APO 3, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Paul J. Stadelman of Arlington Heights has been promoted to Technician fifth grade and has been transferred from Italy to France. Philippines

Another letter from the Philippines comes this week from Roland Fenz of Roselle. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fenz.

"Things are still going strong as you know by the news. We just hit another camp. We stay at one for a couple of days, sometimes more, sometimes less. Food still is as good as can be under these circumstances.

"We had quite a heart tugging exhibition when we first came to this particular spot. A group of Filipinos (about 20) all of a sudden appeared while we were setting up. The leader was so happy and exclaimed it many times. The whole bunch let out a cheer 3 times 'Long live the Americans' then they come so the Filipinos can live'.

"This bunch had just come out of the hills where they'd been since the Japs came in '41, so you can imagine their genuine pleasure. They offered their services in any way we could use them. The next day some brought us rice, corn and fruit, bananas, peanuts and what have you.

"The little children are simply the cutest things ever. While they are yet small, they learn to carry things on their heads which is about the only way they ever carry things. It's truly amazing the loads they carry, even old men and women 60 and 70 years old. It's not at all uncommon (in fact usually so) to see the women carry loads following the men who have nothing.

"Another oddity is smoking. Little boys 5-6 smoking and old women also—cigars for old women are quite frequent.

"A few are lucky and have water cows or buffaloes with which to drag their loads but most of them have none.

"The guerrillas of the islands are quite interesting to converse with. They had faith and confidence in Americans and knew we would be back. Now that we are, they are freshly supplied with ammunition, etc. They prefer killing Japs with their bolo knife because it is quieter. If it were not for the hundreds and hundreds of these Filipino guerrillas it would indeed be a difficult job here.

"Yes the Filipino people are indeed very likeable people and a good people. They will, however, tell you of their intense hatred of the Japanese for their many cruelties and atrocities. I could tell you of many of them but it would not be pleasant so you shall be spared. We still go without mail and without barrack bags which is quite understandable."

His address is Pfc. Roland Fenz, 16172228, APO 201 % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

L. O. K.

Now on the move to destination unknown is Hans Heuer of Palatine. Hans was formerly stationed at Fort George Meade, Maryland.

"This is to tell you not to send the paper for awhile. I'm on the move again and it'll be some time before I'm set. I'll send you my new address as soon as possible.

"It's going to be kind of tough not getting the Enterprise every week any more. I've enjoyed it immensely but just can't seem to express my pleasure in words. Thanks a million."

Now aboard his ship somewhere on the high seas is Bob Jensen of Palatine. Bob left Norfolk the first of November to take up his new duties as first lieutenant aboard his ship. He did have a chance to fly home before leaving, however. His address is Ens. Robert E. Jensen, USNR, % FPO, New York, N. Y.

"I won't be able to write to the Herald any more about combat experiences but I'm not sorry. I've seen all I want to see and I think they can find someone else to take my place. Have dropped weight from 170 to 130."

His address is Cpl. Albert E. Duenn, 36003998, APO 3, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Crystal Lake vs Wildcats in NE

Favorites meet in conference opener Friday

By G. A. McElroy

Two of the strongest teams in the Northeast race which opens Friday are doped to be Crystal Lake and Libertyville who clash in the first game. Both have a plentiful supply of lettermen from teams which ranked among the best outfits in this area a year ago.

Crystal Lake's team which lost only two games in a 16 game schedule last year has every player returning. Crystal Lake's only losses were to Palatine and Libertyville.

At forwards Coach Owen Metcalf has Jim Hayden, 5' 10" and Robert Reddersdorf 5' 11". Jerry Schroeder 6' 1" is back at center. Ronald Timm 6' 2" and Harold Legel 6' are returning at guards. Fred Tipps a 5' 7" forward is a sixth letterman. In addition Metcalf has some excellent material from an outstanding lightweight team moving up to server as reserves. Crystal Lake had one of the best fast break attacks in this area last year with Hayden the top scorer and Schroeder not far behind.

Libertyville has five lettermen but only two can be considered as regulars last year. Norman Ericksen, 6' 1" guard and Keith Nickolay, 6' 3" center, were regulars on the tournament team last spring. Harvey Goss, 6' 1" guard, Charles Lennartz, 5' 10" forward, and Paul Radke 5' 10" guard were good reserves last season. Other squad members are Don Herr, 6' 2"; James Drake, 5' 7"; Sam Camellino, 5' 7"; James Dowden, 5' 11"; James Leding, 5' 11"; and Edward Kennedy, 5' 11". Fred James a 6' 2" transfer from Warren who had some experience as a guard at University High in Normal is a junior who may prove of value. Gene Cherenovich 6' 3" all state tackle played center for Libertyville in the opener at Waukegan last week. Libertyville will probably have the tallest team in the league.

Grant, 33-32, 53-8

Antioch took both ends of the opening bill at Grant. The Indians swamped the Grant junior team 43-8 but was hard put to stave off a Grant rally and save the varsity contest 33-32. Antioch trailed the first quarter but had moved far in front 30-16 at the start of the final eight minutes of the varsity game. Then Mahoney and Thompson cut loose with some fancy basket shooting and the clock saved Antioch 33-32.

Mahoney scored 12 and Thompson 11 for Grant. Jones had 15 and Good tallied 13 for Antioch.

Bensenville loses in final period to Broncs

Webb sparks Bison team with 11 of 30-28 final tally

Barrington nosed out Bensenville in their opening conference game on the Bronchos' court 30-28 by coming from behind late in the final quarter. The Bisons had outplayed the conference favorites up to that point and were in front from the start, holding a 10-2 margin at the end of the first quarter and 17-12 at the half.

Little Webb, sparkplug guard, was the boy who kept Bensenville out in front. He repeatedly intercepted Barrington passes and his clever work drew numerous fouls. His loss on five personals in the last quarter was the turning point of the game in favor of the Bronchos who rushed down the court and prevented the Bison offense from getting started. Guards who substituted for Webb could not get the ball down the court. Webb scored 11 points, seven of which were on free throws, and was the best individual performer in the game.

Emmerson and Flock shoot Bronchos into lead

Capt. Gaulke, veteran center of Barrington, kept his team in striking distance the first three periods and racked up 13 points including five out of 6 free throws. However it was "Ollie" Emmerson who tied the score with two perfectly fashioned long shots and Flock who got his two baskets in the clutch to break up the game in the final two minutes. The game brought out the fact that Bensenville has a much stronger outfit than expected and that Barrington, in spite of a top heavy array of lettermen, will have a tough road to travel to maintain the role as the championship favorite. For much of the game they looked very mediocre.

Bison lights lose, 28-9

The Barrington lightweights ran all over a less experienced Bison junior five and wound up with a 28-9 victory. Simpson was high with six points for Barrington and Robertson and Karrigan had four apiece for the Bisons. Both teams appeared to be far below the usual caliber of lightweight teams representing their respective schools.

Palatine leads all the way to beat Lake Forest

Varsity wins, 27-16; Lights lose to Arlington, 28-15

A capacity crowd watched Palatine defeat Lake Forest 27-16 Saturday night in the feature of the annual basketball homecoming at the Palatine high school. Arlington Heights whipped the junior Pirates 28-15 in a preliminary game. The large crowd enjoyed dancing to the music of "Bill" Miller's orchestra following the games.

Coach Stutzman's Pirates were slow getting underway and trailed Lake Forest 4-1 the opening quarter but Vogt hit twice from the field and Birks and Smith also tallied to move Palatine into a 11-6 half time lead which was never threatened. The Pirates started to speed up in the last quarter and scored 10 points after holding a 17-13 lead at the three quarter mark. It was the Pirates' third straight victory.

Capt. Clarence Vogt scored more than half the Palatine points with six baskets and two free throws for a total of 14. Lake Forest is renewing basketball after two years without inter school competition and their greatest weakness appeared to be basket shooting. Toppel was out of the Pirate lineup with an injury and Joe Jost was sick.

Arlington lights win easily

Arlington's towering squad of veteran lightweights had things pretty much their own way over Palatine in the preliminary game. The Pirate frosh-sophs had trouble working the ball up the court against Arlington's tight defense and 11 of their points were made on free throws. The Cards' height around the baskets gave them quite an edge. Arlington led 6-3 the first quarter and 14-5 at the half. Coach Joyner used all his squad of 16 players without much reduction in their effectiveness.

Wille and Kleiner topped Arlington's scorers with eight points apiece. Pepper and Gustafson got six each for Palatine. All of Pepper's were free throws as the Palatine freshmen were fouled 14 times.

The game was Arlington's second straight victory, having beaten Maine Twp. by a sizeable margin earlier in the week. It was Palatine's first defeat in four games.

After the games an orchestra made up of boys from Arlington, Barrington, Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights played for nearly two hours of dancing. Milton Case's Palatine band appeared in several demonstrations of their skill in their first basketball appearance.

Pirates rally to edge Northbrook

Visitors lead most of game, lose 21-19; lights also win

Palatine handed Northbrook a double defeat in the league openers last week, Wednesday. The lightweights had an easy time against a weak Viking squad and won 25-8. The varsity met a strong veteran opponent and had a real job edging out the visitors 21-19.

Northbrook's varsity five led the Pirates until the end of the third quarter holding a 12-9 margin at the half. Sophomore forward, Bob Birks, returned to the lineup in the last quarter after a jittery opening period and his field goal and three straight free throws decided the game. Ray Howes also contributed a highly important basket in the closing minutes. Both teams played tight zone defenses and resorted to a deliberate style of play which cut shooting opportunities and kept the score lower than usual.

Williams of Northbrook was high scorer of the game with nine points. His team mate, Richards, had five as did Birks and Smith of Palatine. Capt. Vogt of the Pirates scored six.

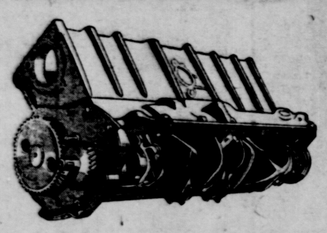

The Palatine lightweights all got into the game and 12 of the 13 who dressed got in two or more quarters. Northbrook was very weak and it was evident from the start that this was a game where Palatine might either run up a sizeable score or let a lot of boys participate. The latter course was the choice and the margin of 25-8 was still bad enough. Kolze scored eight points, Gustafson five, Pepper and Thompson four each, Henker two and Rogers and Freye one apiece. Kozy, Haemker, Sander, Torpe, and Knigge also saw considerable action. Palatine led 13-1 at the half and 25-5 going into the final segment.

Cards lose first at Maine JVs win

Arlington's Cardinals lost their season opener to Maine High School by a score of 35-21. In a game that was much closer than the score indicates, lack of practice was the factor that spelled the difference between the two teams. The Cardinals had had just one week of practice under their Coach, Armond Seidler, before engaging Maine.

Arlington managed to take quite a few shots at Maine's basket, but very definitely was not hitting too accurately. As a result of this inability to hit shots, and lack of good condition, the Cards succumbed to Maine.

The Green Tornadoes won their first game of the season from Maine 33 to 18. Jack McArdle was high point man with 3 baskets and four free throws.

Piping Aboard

The naval ceremony, "piping aboard," is followed for all officers and dignitaries of our own and foreign countries. It is internationally observed.

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

After the opening league games and a number of non-conference encounters certain conclusions have been reached by the writer concerning the Northwest Conference season. It appears to be a much more evenly matched league than was expected. Northbrook and Grant both appeared to benefit by the presence of veteran players and were barely beaten by Palatine and Antioch in the openers. Barrington was very lucky to get by Bensenville who have the makings of a very good team. Ela's power against Wauconda demonstrates that they will be the strongest north section team. Except for Wauconda it looks like a pretty evenly matched league, though the south end appears at this point to be the strongest.

Bisons look like title material

Bensenville looks like it might develop into the best team in the league. The Bisons have 2 of the tallest boys in the conference in Neuman, six four inch center, and Ernsting, six foot three inch, forward. Schoppe is a veteran of last year's fine team at forward. Rands, a sub guard last year, appears to be a good ball handler and passer. Webb is the spark plug of the team at guard. Small but quick and alert describes Webb who is the best dribbler and ball handler on the team. Yes, the Bisons look a great deal better than we thought and may win the championship in spite of their opening defeat.

Lightweight division below par this year

The lightweight situation in the conference narrows down to the conclusion that the conference is way below par, that Barrington, Antioch and Palatine will probably finish one, two, three as the top teams just as they did last year. Antioch has the edge, for Palatine and Barrington meet each other twice while Antioch plays each of them but once. Certainly the opening games would indicate that Northbrook, Grant and Bensenville are quite weak at present while both Barrington and Palatine were disposed of by Ela and Wauconda handily in non-league games.

Northeast season opens Friday

After two seasons without conference basketball the Northeast opens again with a 12 game schedule for each team. Lake Forest did not play basketball during that period but the rest played free lance. From where we are located we find that all the weaker members of the Northeast on the basis of last season's record are greatly improved while the best teams of last year, Niles, Crystal Lake, and Libertyville are still well fortified with material and are our guess to finish in the first three spots. We unreservedly pick Crystal Lake's Tigers to cop the championship and will consider it a real upset if anyone finishes above them. Same team at every position again this year at Crystal Lake and they should knock off tough Libertyville in the opener in the Wildcats' home lair to get off to a good start Friday. We are picking Leyden's veterans to outpoint Lake Forest, Niles to whip Warren, and Arlington to nose out Woodstock.

Pirates vs Bisons at Bensenville

This week in the Northwest all the games should be good. Bensenville's home court advantage and height gives them a narrow edge over Palatine in a game between two of the probable league contenders. Barrington will find Northbrook more than they expect but are doped to win. Grant should get their first league victory in two seasons at Wauconda in a close one. Ela probably has too much size and scoring punch for Antioch in a game between the strongest north section pair.

Cherenovich named all state tackle

Gene Cherenovich, Libertyville's six foot three 190 pound tackle, has been named to the all-state squad by Pat Harmon of Champaign. We are glad to have helped advance the merits of this outstanding lineman in a letter to Pat Harmon. However we told him we regarded Norman deLoof of Warren the outstanding player of the year in the conference and that Cherenovich was the best tackle Art Bergstrom ever coached. We are sorry deLoof did not get recognition also but that is the way it goes. Tough enough to get just one man named. Last year when the boys in the league were more outstanding not a one was mentioned. Performances such as that of Harry Jagade at Indiana this year prove that the state pickers overlooked all-state material in the Northeast last year. By the way, Jagade of Leyden, carried the ball 30 times Saturday for Indiana against Purdue and gained 137 yards.

Arlington improved

Arlington is looking forward to a good basketball season. Most of both their last year's squads are intact. Only two boys, Ehard and Koenig moved up from lights to varsity this year so the junior team will be just about the same as last year when they enjoyed a good season. In fact we think Arlington's lights directed by Joyner will be a real league threat for the championship. The Cardinal varsity is experienced and can handle the ball. At Maine last week it was accuracy in basket shooting that they lacked. They were even with Maine for three quarters and that's different than that 35-10 drubbing of a year ago. Arlington sees prospects of recovering the sleighbells trophy from Palatine this year. The Pirates are going to be a better outfit than last year, however, so the Cards will have their hands full. The first of two meetings will be Saturday, January 13, at Palatine.

Waukegan upsets Dundee

We saw Waukegan beat Dundee 52-36 last week but that does not mean that Dundee will have an off year. They are all six feet tall or over and would have won but excessive fouling lost them four regulars while Waukegan sank a total of 22 free throws. Stutzman told us after two scrimmages with Dundee that he wondered if they would foul as much in a game as in practice. We found out what happened to them when the calling was close. Coach Allen of Waukegan is developing a very fine ball team and his 200 pound, six foot five inch sophomore son is one of the most important players on the team.

Arlington beats Ela by one point, 32-31

Jr.-varsity wallops Ela in opener, 47-12

Led by Bill Wille and "Oz" Aldrich the Tornadoes swamped Ela's junior varsity. Wille and Aldrich counted twice and Dahlstrom, Knaack and McArdle once each to make a first half total of six baskets. Free throws by Aldrich and Busse brought Arlington's half-time score up to 17 to 7.

In the second half Wille counted 4 times, Aldrich twice, Dahlstrom once, Hogreve once, Busse twice, and freshman Al Henken once for a second half total with free-throws, of 30 points.

The highlights of the last few minutes of the game included a spectacular shot from the free-throw line by Willard Hogreve and a nice layup by Al Henken. Bill Kleiner proved himself a good rebounder and a good pass feeder in sparking the sophomores to a total of 14 points.

Varsity leads all the way

Arlington's scrappy Cardinals edged out the tough Ela quintet Tuesday evening by a one-point margin, the final score being 32-31. Coach Seidler used ten boys in the Arlington lineup, still trying to find the right combination.

Arlington led at the quarter, 12-9, at the half 20-14, at the three quarters 25-20, and at the end 32-31. Most of the Arlington scoring was well distributed, Botterman being high point man with 8 points. Ladd was outstanding for Ela, and led the scoring with 15 points.

Maine deals two losses to Pirates

Varsity falls 33-25; lights nosed out 24-22

Palatine dropped a doubleheader at Maine Tuesday night. The lightweights lost 24-22 as Maine broke a tie score with less than a minute to play. The varsity lost 33-25.

The Pirate varsity held Maine to a 13-10 score at the half in spite of taking but six shots at the basket. In the third quarter Maine scored 12 points before the Pirates tallied and led 25-11 going into the final period. Toppel and Vogt each scored six points as Palatine rang up 14 counters in the last eight minutes to bring the score to a more respectable figure.

The Palatine lightweights trailed throughout the game as their two leading scorers Kolze and Gustafson got just one basket between them. However Thompson, who went in as a sub forward, hit so consistently with seven field goals in 11 attempts that the junior Pirates were in the ball game all the way. The half time score was 10-7 and the three quarter shore 17-13. Henker's basket tied the score with a minute to play but Olson hit for Maine to win the game.

Northwestern RR buys 7 million bonds in county

Cook County will be credited with $7,200,000 in war bonds by the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company as the result of its purchase of $20,000,000 in Sixth War Loan bonds.

"Since the First War Loan Drive the Northwestern has purchased more than $150,000,000 in war securities," Williams declared. "This does not include war bonds bought by company officers and employes who have been making and will continue to make substantial purchases on the payroll allotment plan."

Grant beats Woodstock, 43-42

Grant led St. Marys of Woodstock all the way in a free scoring but close ball game Tuesday to win 43-42 at Fox Lake. Mahoney led the scoring with 16 points followed by Paustian with 13 and Thompson 10. Grant led 22-14 at the half and 34-29 going into the last quarter. Grant's lights lost 26-14.

Ela mauls Wauconda 62-32

Ladd gets 21

Ela's Bears went all out against Wauconda last Wednesday in defense of their undefeated Northwest Record of a year ago and swamped the Bulldogs 62-32 in a fast free shooting game. Ladd and Hapke, carry over regulars from last season, tallied 21 and eight points respectively, but Vanover with 10 and Grever with 13 came through with much more than expected to ably assist the veterans. Gerald Harvey, star junior forward of Wauconda, hit the nets for 15 points while Ringer collected nine. Wauconda has lost their six feet two inch center, Haake, who has quit basketball to take an after school job.

Ela's tall lightweights downed their smaller, faster opponents 21-20 in the preliminary.

Crystal Lake vs Wildcats in NE

By G. A. McElroy

Two of the strongest teams in the Northeast race which opens Friday are doped to be Crystal Lake and Libertyville who clash in the first game. Both have a plentiful supply of lettermen from teams which ranked among the best outfits in this area a year ago.

Crystal Lake's team which lost only two games in a 16 game schedule last year has every player returning. Crystal Lake's only losses were to Palatine and Libertyville.

At forwards Coach Owen Metcalf has Jim Hayden, 5' 10" and Robert Reddersdorf 5' 11". Jerry Schroeder 6' 1" is back at center. Ronald Timm 6' 2" and Harold Legel 6' are returning at guards. Fred Tipps a 5' 7" forward is a sixth letterman. In addition Metcalf has some excellent material from an outstanding lightweight team moving up to server as reserves. Crystal Lake had one of the best fast break attacks in this area last year with Hayden the top scorer and Schroeder not far behind.

Libertyville has five lettermen but only two can be considered as regulars last year. Norman Ericksen, 6' 1" guard and Keith Nickolay, 6' 3" center, were regulars on the tournament team last spring. Harvey Goss, 6' 1" guard, Charles Lennartz, 5' 10" forward, and Paul Radke 5' 10" guard were good reserves last season. Other squad members are Don Herr, 6' 2"; James Drake, 5' 7"; Sam Camellino, 5' 7"; James Dowden, 5' 11"; James Leding, 5' 11"; and Edward Kennedy, 5' 11". Fred James a 6' 2" transfer from Warren who had some experience as a guard at University High in Normal is a junior who may prove of value. Gene Cherenovich 6' 3" all state tackle played center for Libertyville in the opener at Waukegan last week. Libertyville will probably have the tallest team in the league.

Grant, 33-32, 53-8

Antioch took both ends of the opening bill at Grant. The Indians swamped the Grant junior team 43-8 but was hard put to stave off a Grant rally and save the varsity contest 33-32. Antioch trailed the first quarter but had moved far in front 30-16 at the start of the final eight minutes of the varsity game. Then Mahoney and Thompson cut loose with some fancy basket shooting and the clock saved Antioch 33-32.

Mahoney scored 12 and Thompson 11 for Grant. Jones had 15 and Good tallied 13 for Antioch.

Bensenville loses in final period to Broncs

Webb sparks Bison team with 11 of 30-28 final tally

Barrington nosed out Bensenville in their opening conference game on the Bronchos' court 30-28 by coming from behind late in the final quarter. The Bisons had outplayed the conference favorite up to that point and were in front from the start, holding a 10-2 margin at the end of the first quarter and 17-12 at the half.

Little Webb, sparkplug guard, was the boy who kept Bensenville out in front. He repeatedly intercepted Barrington passes and his clever work drew numerous fouls. His loss on five personals in the last quarter was the turning point of the game in favor of the Bronchos who rushed down the court and prevented the Bison offense from getting started. Guards who substituted for Webb could not get the ball down the court. Webb scored 11 points, seven of which were on free throws, and was the best individual performer in the game.

Emmerson and Flock shoot Bronchos into lead

Capt. Gaulke, veteran center of Barrington, kept his team in striking distance the first three periods and racked up 13 points including five out of 6 free throws. However it was "Ollie" Emmerson who tied the score with two perfectly fashioned long shots and Flock who got his two baskets in the clutch to break up the game in the final two minutes. The game brought out the fact that Bensenville has a much stronger outfit than expected and that Barrington, in spite of a top heavy array of lettermen, will have a tough road to travel to maintain their role as the championship favorite. For much of the game they looked very mediocre.

Bison lights lose, 28-9

The Barrington lightweights ran all over a less experienced Bison junior five and wound up with a 28-9 victory. Simpson was high with six points for Barrington and Robertson and Karrigan had four apiece for the Bisons. Both teams appeared to be far below the usual caliber of lightweight teams representing their respective schools.

A capacity crowd watched Palatine defeat Lake Forest 27-16 Saturday night in the feature of the annual basketball homecoming at the Palatine high school. Arlington Heights whipped the junior Pirates 28-15 in a preliminary game. The large crowd enjoyed dancing to the music of "Bill" Miller's orchestra following the games.

Coach Stutzman's Pirates were slow getting underway and trailed Lake Forest 4-1 the opening quarter but Vogt hit twice from the field and Birks and Smith also tallied to move Palatine into a 11-6 half time lead which was never threatened. The Pirates started to speed up in the last quarter and scored 10 points after holding a 17-13 lead at the three quarter mark. It was the Pirates' third straight victory.

Capt. Clarence Vogt scored more than half the Palatine points with six baskets and two free throws for a total of 14. Lake Forest is renewing basketball after two years without inter school competition and their greatest weakness appeared to be basket shooting. Toppel was out of the Pirate lineup with an injury and Joe Jost was sick.

Arlington lights win easily

Arlington's towering squad of veteran lightweights had things pretty much their own way over Palatine in the preliminary game. The Pirate froshsophs had trouble working the ball up the court against Arlington's tight defense and 11 of their points were made on free throws. The Cards' height around the baskets gave them quite an edge. Arlington led 6-3 the first quarter and 14-5 at the half. Coach Joyner used all his squad of 16 players without much reduction in their effectiveness.

Wille and Kleiner topped Arlington's scorers with eight points apiece. Pepper and Gustafson got six each for Palatine. All of Pepper's were free throws as the Palatine freshmen were fouled 14 times.

The game was Arlington's second straight victory, having beaten Maine Twp. by a sizeable margin earlier in the week. It was Palatine's first defeat in four games.

After the games an orchestra made up of boys from Arlington, Barrington, Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights played for nearly two hours of dancing. Milton Case's Palatine band appeared in several demonstrations of their skill in their first basketball appearance.

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

After the opening league games and a number of non-conference encounters certain conclusions have been reached by the writer concerning the Northwest Conference season. It appears to be a much more evenly matched league than was expected. Northbrook and Grant both appeared to benefit by the presence of veteran players and were barely beaten by Palatine and Antioch in the openers. Barrington was very lucky to get by Bensenville who have the makings of a very good team. Ela's power against Wauconda demonstrates that they will be the strongest north section team. Except for Wauconda it looks like a pretty evenly matched league, though the south end appears at this point to be the strongest.

Bisons look like title material

Bensenville looks like it might develop into the best team in the league. The Bisons have 2 of the tallest boys in the conference in Neuman, six four inch center, and Ernsting, six foot three inch, forward. Schoppe is a veteran of last year's fine team at forward. Rands, a sub guard last year, appears to be a good ball handler and passer. Webb is the spark plug of the team at guard. Small but quick and alert describes Webb who is the best dribbler and ball handler on the team. Yes, the Bisons look a great deal better than we thought and may win the championship in spite of their opening defeat.

Lightweight division below par this year

The lightweight situation in the conference narrows down to the conclusion that the conference is way below par, that Barrington, Antioch and Palatine will probably finish one, two, three as the top teams just as they did last year. Antioch has the edge, for Palatine and Barrington meet each other twice while Antioch plays each of them but once. Certainly the opening games would indicate that Northbrook, Grant and Bensenville are quite weak at present while both Barrington and Palatine were disposed of by Ela and Wauconda handily in non-league games.

Northeast season opens Friday

After two seasons without conference basketball the Northeast opens again with a 12 game schedule for each team. Lake Forest did not play basketball during that period but the rest played free lance. From where we are located we find that all the weaker members of the Northeast on the basis of last season's record are greatly improved while the best teams of last year, Niles, Crystal Lake, and Libertyville are still well fortified with material and are our guess to finish in the first three spots. We unreservedly pick Crystal Lake's Tigers to cop the championship and will consider it a real upset if anyone finishes above them. Same team at every position again this year at Crystal Lake and they should knock off tough Libertyville in the opener in the Wildcats' home lair to get off to a good start Friday. We are picking Leyden's veterans to outpoint Lake Forest, Niles to whip Warren, and Arlington to nose out Woodstock.

Pirates vs Bisons at Bensenville

This week in the Northwest all the games should be good. Bensenville's home court advantage and height gives them a narrow edge over Palatine in a game between two of the probable league contenders. Barrington will find Northbrook more than they expect but are doped to win. Grant should get their first league victory in two seasons at Wauconda in a close one. Ela probably has too much size and scoring punch for Antioch in a game between the strongest north section pair.

Cherenovich named all state tackle

Gene Cherenovich, Libertyville's six foot three 190 pound tackle, has been named to the all-state squad by Pat Harmon of Champaign. We are glad to have helped advance the merits of this outstanding lineman in a letter to Pat Harmon. However we told him we regarded Norman deLoof of Warren the outstanding player of the year in the conference and that Cherenovich was the best tackle Art Bergstrom ever coached. We are sorry deLoof did not get recognition also but that is the way it goes. Tough enough to get just one man named. Last year when the boys in the league were more outstanding not a one was mentioned. Performances such as that of Harry Jagade at Indiana this year prove that the state pickers overlooked all-state material in the Northeast last year. By the way, Jagade of Leyden, carried the ball 30 times Saturday for Indiana against Purdue and gained 137 yards.

Arlington improved

Arlington is looking forward to a good basketball season. Most of both their last year's squads are intact. Only two boys, Ehard and Koenig moved up from lights to varsity this year so the junior team will be just about the same as last year when they enjoyed a good season. In fact we think Arlington's lights directed by Joyner will be a real league threat for the championship. The Cardinal varsity is experienced and can handle the ball. At Maine last week it was accuracy in basket shooting that they lacked. They were even with Maine for three quarters and that's different than that 35-10 drubbing of a year ago. Arlington sees prospects of recovering the sleighbells trophy from Palatine this year. The Pirates are going to be a better outfit than last year, however, so the Cards will have their hands full. The first of two meetings will be Saturday, January 13, at Palatine.

Waukegan upsets Dundee

We saw Waukegan beat Dundee 52-36 last week but that does not mean that Dundee will have an off year. They are all six feet tall or over and would have won but excessive fouling lost them four regulars while Waukegan sank a total of 22 free throws. Stutzman told us after two scrimmages with Dundee that he wondered if they would foul as much in a game as in practice. We found out what happened to them when the calling was close. Coach Allen of Waukegan is developing a very fine ball team and his 200 pound, six foot five inch sophomore son is one of the most important players on the team.

Arlington beats Ela by one point, 32-31

Jr.-varsity wallops Ela in opener, 47-12

Led by Bill Wille and "Oz" Aldrich the Tornadoes swamped Ela's junior varsity. Wille and Aldrich counted twice and Dahlstrom, Knaack and McArdle once each to make a first half total of six baskets. Free throws by Aldrich and Busse brought Arlington's halftime score up to 17 to 7.

In the second half Wille counted 4 times, Aldrich twice, Dahlstrom once, Hogreve once, Busse twice, and freshman Al Henken once for a second half total with free-throws, of 30 points.

The highlights of the last few minutes of the game included a spectacular shot from the free-throw line by Willard Hogreve and a nice layup by Al Henken. Bill Kleiner proved himself a good rebounder and a good pass feeder in sparking the sophomores to a total of 14 points.

Arlington's scrappy Cardinals edged out the tough Ela quintet Tuesday evening by a one-point margin, the final score being 32-31. Coach Seidler used ten boys in the Arlington lineup, still trying to find the right combination.

Arlington led at the quarter, 12-9, at the half 20-14, at the three quarters 25-20, and at the end 32-31. Most of the Arlington scoring was well distributed, Botterman being high point man with 8 points. Ladd was outstanding for Ela, and led the scoring with 15 points.

Maine deals two losses to Pirates

Palatine dropped a doubleheader at Maine Tuesday night. The lightweights lost 24-22 as Maine broke a tie score with less than a minute to play. The varsity lost 33-25.

The Pirate varsity held Maine to a 13-10 score at the half in spite of taking but six shots at the basket. In the third quarter Maine scored 12 points before the Pirates tallied and led 25-11 going into the final period. Toppel and Vogt each scored six points as Palatine rang up 14 counters in the last eight minutes to bring the score to a more respectable figure.

The Palatine lightweights trailed throughout the game as their two leading scorers Kolze and Gustafson got just one basket between them. However Thompson, who went in as a sub forward, hit so consistently with seven field goals in 11 attempts that the junior Pirates were in the ball game all the way. The half time score was 10-7 and the three quarter shore 17-13. Henker's basket tied the score with a minute to play but Olson hit for Maine to win the game.

Visitors lead most of game, lose 21-19; lights also win

Palatine handed Northbrook a double defeat in the league openers last week, Wednesday. The lightweights had an easy time against a weak Viking squad and won 25-8. The varsity met a strong veteran opponent and had a real job edging out the visitors 21-19.

Northbrook's varsity five led the Pirates until the end of the third quarter holding a 12-9 margin at the half. Sophomore forward, Bob Birks, returned to the lineup in the last quarter after a jittery opening period and his field goal and three straight free throws decided the game. Ray Howes also contributed a highly important basket in the closing minutes. Both teams played tight zone defenses and resorted to a deliberate style of play which cut shooting opportunities and kept the score lower than usual.

Williams of Northbrook was high scorer of the game with nine points. His team mate, Richards, had five as did Birks and Smith of Palatine. Capt. Vogt of the Pirates scored six.

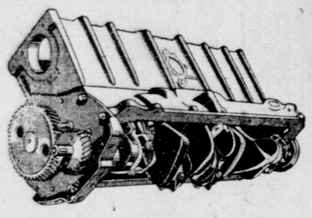

The Palatine lightweights all got into the game and 12 of the 13 who dressed got in two or more quarters. Northbrook was very weak and it was evident from the start that this was a game where Palatine might either run up a sizeable score or let a lot of boys participate. The latter course was the choice and the margin of 25-8 was still bad enough. Kolze scored eight points, Gustafson five, Pepper and Thompson four each, Henker two and Rogers and Freye one apiece. Kozy, Haemker, Sander, Torpe, and Knigge also saw considerable action. Palatine led 13-1 at the half and 25-5 going into the final segment.

Cards lose first at Maine JVs win

Arlington's Cardinals lost their season opener to Maine High School by a score of 35-21. In a game that was much closer than the score indicates, lack of practice was the factor that spelled the difference between the two teams. The Cardinals had had just one week of practice under their Coach, Armond Seidler, before engaging Maine.

Arlington managed to take quite a few shots at Maine's basket, but very definitely was not hitting too accurately. As a result of this inability to hit shots, and lack of good condition, the Cards succumbed to Maine.

The Green Tornadoes won their first game of the season from Maine 33 to 18. Jack McArdle was high point man with 3 baskets and four free throws.

Northwestern RR buys 7 million bonds in county

Cook County will be credited with $7,200,000 in war bonds by the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company as the result of its purchase of $20,000,000 in Sixth War Loan bonds.

"Since the First War Loan Drive the Northwestern has purchased more than $150,000,000 in war securities," Williams declared. "This does not include war bonds bought by company officers and employes who have been making and will continue to make substantial purchases on the payroll allotment plan."

Grant beats Woodstock, 43-42

Grant led St. Marys of Woodstock all the way in a free scoring but close ball game Tuesday to win 43-42 at Fox Lake. Mahoney led the scoring with 16 points followed by Paustian with 13 and Thompson 10. Grant led 22-14 at the half and 34-29 going into the last quarter. Grant's lights lost 26-14.

Ela mauls Wauconda 62-32

Ladd gets 21

Ela's Bears went all out against Wauconda last Wednesday in defense of their undefeated Northwest Record of a year ago and swamped the Bulldogs 62-32 in a fast free shooting game. Ladd and Hapke, carry over regulars from last season, tallied 21 and eight points respectively, but Vanover with 10 and Grever with 13 came through with much more than expected to ably assist the veterans. Gerald Harvey, star junior forward of Wauconda, hit the nets for 15 points while Ringer collected nine. Wauconda has lost their six feet two inch center, Haake, who has quit basketball to take an after school job.

Ela's tall lightweights downed their smaller, faster opponents 21-20 in the preliminary.

Present hog and corn prices normal decline

Farmers should not be confused by the recent declines in corn and hogs below their respective ceilings, as the prices of both are behaving in normal fashion for the season of the year, according to L. J. Norton, acting head of the department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Unless a period of basic readjustment to lower price levels is experienced, Norton believes that prices of corn and hogs may be expected to recover as we move out of the season when their prices are typically below the yearly average. Prospective supply and demand conditions suggest that the price of hogs is more likely to recover and crowd against the ceilings than is the price of corn.

The price of corn is usually at its low point from November to March and then rises to a high in August. It is this seasonal change in price that pays farmers for storing corn from the harvest season until the next summer. It is normal and not abnormal for corn to be below the seasonal average at harvest time.

Likewise, Norton points out that the price of hogs typically declines in October and November to a low in December and then, after the turn of the new year, rises to a spring peak in March and April. Usually there is a spring drop in price in May, after which the price rises to a seasonal high in July and August. These changes are related to volume of marketings, according to Norton, who added that most farmers find it convenient to have hogs ready for market in the periods of heavy receipts and lower prices. If hog prices held a dead level during the year, there would be no inducement to go to the trouble of having hogs ready to market at the off-seasons.

Farm income tax time

"While there are numerous changes in computing income taxes, the method of arriving at the farm net income remains the same," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. "This is the big item in arriving at the farm return. Farm returns have always been a matter of conjecture because farmers have not generally kept records. The day will come we dare say when farmers will be required to produce a rather accurate record. This crack-down has already come from some offices before this time.

"Some time ago we prepared a farm income tax book. Our experience with it was not too good as farmers bought the book but made no use of it. The printer is holding these plates, which ties up a lot of metal. If there is no further demand for it it is going to be scrapped and not printed anymore. We hold about 50 unsold copies now, and if there is not more demand it goes into the discard.

"There will be assistance at the Farm Bureau on Income Taxes for farmers. Peter Heintz will be at Blue Island and Attorney Fritz at Arlington Heights with Mr. Allison part time. Farmers filing a return before January 15 do not need to file a declaration. But those filing after January 15 must file a declaration before January 15 and a return before March 15. The State College of Agriculture is giving instructions on farm income taxes January 6 and 7 which is being attended by Mr. Fritz, Mr. Heintz and his assistant, Helen Heintz and Farm Adviser, C. A. Hughes. There will be no general meetings on Income Taxes this year."

Farm land boom threatening

History is threatening to repeat itself in the farm land market. Another farm land "boom", closely paralleling the one that ended so disastrously after the last war, is building up in this country. Both the price of farm land and the number of farm sales in many areas have been rising at about the same rate as in the last war. If this trend continues, rural America had better watch out.

One encouraging sign is that actual land prices haven't yet reached the high level of 1919-20. But still we can't say now how much higher these prices are likely to go because, in the world war I period, the high point in the land market was not reached until more than a year after the fighting stopped.

It would be sad indeed if the nation should witness another seige of farm land foreclosures, bankruptcies, and forced sales such as hundreds of thousands of rural families experienced after the bottom fell out of the land boom that accompanied the world war I period. For 13 hazardous years after 1920, land prices were on the downhill trail. And that statistical fact doesn't begin to tell the full story of human tragedy and misery. Because when a wave of bankruptcies hits a community, everybody suffers—lender and borrower, business and professional people alike.

It will be particularly unfair for returning veterans, who want to buy land, if they have to compete in an inflated land market. For them, or farmers either for that matter, to go heavily in debt on land prices bid up far beyond long-time earning capacity is an invitation to disaster.

Oat seed stocks below expected demand for '45

A possible shortage of certified seed oats in Illinois for 1945 to sow the usual three million acres was forecast this week by George H. Dungan, professor of crop production, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Between six and nine million bushels of oats will be required to meet the needs.

Six million bushels would be needed if all the seed were sown by drill, or nine million bushels would be needed if the seed were broadcast. But of course some will be broadcast and some will be drilled, so the amount of seed needed will be between the two figures, according to Dungan.

The acreage certified last year totaled 11,255 compared with 6,000 acres certified in 1943. But the increase in acreage does not indicate that sufficient quantities of certified seed will be available for the 1945 planting.

Vicland is the leading variety in northern Illinois, and Tama is outstanding for central and southern sections of the state. In addition to these two leading varieties that have been certified on large acreages, a few growers are certifying Boone and Marion, and seven producers have certified Columbia.

Seed stocks for 1945 should be obtained as early as possible, Dungan suggests. If no certified seed is available, then seed uncertified varieties that are adapted to the particular locality should be purchased.

Farmers who had a poor oat crop last year due to late seeding and hot weather hitting the crop before maturity should obtain new seed for the coming year. "Many farmers have the wrong variety, and they should feed up all of their last year's oats and get seed of one of the smut and rust-resistant, higher yielding varieties," Dungan concluded.

CONTROL LICE AMONG LAYERS

A good poultryman knows what insidious enemies lice and mites are to poultry. Heavy infestations cause slumps in egg production because a laying bird that is heavily parasitized is sapped of strength and has little left over maintenance requirements for the production of eggs and increase in body weight.

Examine birds closely

A careful flock owner picks up his birds and handles them frequently. He wants to know what they feel like, to see the condition of their skin, feathers and observe their general vitality. He can determine these things best by intimate examination . . . and every time he does it he looks for lice. He often doesn't find them without a careful search so he separates the feathers along the abdomen, looks under the wings, along the back and among the fluff feathers below the vent.

How to get lice

If he discovers lice he begins immediate treatment. Fortunately treating a flock is not a difficult task. The use of an inexpensive volatile nicotine solution that is available commercially is popular because it is especially effective and easy to use, simply applied to the roost poles about a half hour before birds go to roost.

Farmer must have his place in nat'l economy—IAA prexy

Hits at politics in agricultural legislation

Earl Smith opens IAA meeting in Chicago

National postwar prosperity will depend in large measure on a sustained and prosperous agriculture, Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, declared in his address before the 30th annual meeting of the Association in Chicago Thursday.

"There is practically no limit, except the limitation of purchasing power, on the volume of manufactured commodities farmers will require and will purchase for the improvement of farms and farm homes, if given the opportunity," he said.

Smith charged that in spite of general recognition that agriculture is basic in the national economy, it has not been treated as such. "Throughout the years every recognition given agriculture, and every advancement made by agriculture has been secured as a result of organization argument and pressure," he said. "Never has the problem been met squarely from the standpoint of the importance of a prosperous agriculture to the welfare of every man, woman and child in the United States."

Best buyers

"Under normal conditions, and periods of relatively fair income," he said, "farmers constitute the largest purchasers of the products of mills and factories. With such an interdependency, how can anyone doubt the wisdom of establishing and maintaining national policies that are necessary to maintain the price levels of farm commodities and the income of farm people on a basis of fair relationships with industry and labor?"

Large scale production and mass employment, both necessary if the nation is to meet its fiscal obligations, can be maintained only through large scale production both in agriculture and other industries, Smith maintained. This will require, he said, "the adoption and maintenance of policies necessary to assure the interchange of agricultural and other industrial commodities on a basis of fair exchange value."

Farmers are opposed, because of these relationships, to those who "want high wages and cheap food," the farm leader said. "Some point to the increase in farm prices since 1939," he declared, "but fail to recognize that in 1939 farm prices were the lowest in 25 years except for the depths of the depression. They fail to recognize that from the increase of 77 and one-tenth billion dollars in national income in 1943 over 1939, farmers, who constitute approximately 25 per cent of the population, received only 8 billion dollars, or only ten percent of this increase in national income."

Politics must go

National agricultural programs should be taken out of politics and placed under the administration of a non-political administrative board, Smith asserted. "It is imperative," he declared, "that such policies be considered and accepted in the proper realm of the national importance of agriculture and that we quit kicking the problems of agriculture around in every political campaign." The experience of hog producers last spring and again this month, and the experience of egg producers during the year are convincing evidence that partisanship has no place in the consideration of these important issues. Both Democrats and Republicans have to eat and they have to have jobs if America is to endure."

While reemphasizing the importance of the Agricultural Adjustment Act in the coming postwar period, Smith declared that many of the activities "which have crept into its administration" must be stopped. He called also for unification of all agricultural credit agencies under an independent non-political board, not only to remove duplication of effort but to obtain greater economy and more practical application to farmers' needs.

The abandonment of wartime subsidies will bring difficult problems, especially in dairy farming, Smith warned. He reminded his hearers that middle west dairy farmers, along with the general farm organizations, opposed the adoption of this program and succeeded in preventing its extension into other segments of agriculture.

Must be surplus

Farmers recognize, he continued, that there must be a surplus production and carry-over of the basic soil crops from one year to the next for the protection of the consumer and the national interest. "Certain it is that if farmers produce such surplus reserves, it becomes a national responsibility to adopt and to maintain policies essential for the effective segregation of these surpluses and their control in a manner necessary to remove their otherwise disastrous influence upon current price levels and values."

A stabilization of price levels of livestock, through trade agreements similar to those proved effective in handling the milk marketing problem, would be beneficial not only to farmers but to processors and consumers, Smith contended. Thus, he said, "Unwarranted fluctuations in prices in values could be avoided, speculation held to a minimum, confidence restored, and the best interests of all people served."

Test sample before trying to dye cloth

Test a sample! It's more important today than ever when dyeing a garment to determine whether the color remover you have purchased will do an efficient job and whether the fabrics in your garment can be successfully dyed to a pleasing color, states Miss Fern Carl, clothing specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Only by making a test on a small sample of material can you learn whether the garment will take a dye and whether the color remover is satisfactory. Read the instructions and follow them carefully.

For good results in dyeing, color should be stripped or the color streaks removed from the fabric before a new color is introduced, unless you are sure that a pleasing result may be obtained by dyeing over the original color.

Wool material may be injured by attempting to remove color, so it is not recommended that it be subjected to color removal.

Today many fabrics are a combination of different fabrics so that special consideration must be given to the fibre content of the garment before a decision to dye is made.

Acetate rayons, which resist dyes that are effective on other materials, require either a special or an all-purpose dye, and again this warning, "try a sample," is repeated for rayons.

Wool sometimes presents difficulties in dyeing, since it has a tendency to shrink. However, shrinkage can be minimized by keeping the temperature constant throughout dyeing and rinsing and by drying it in a warm (not hot) room.

First week is important in life of calf

The first week is the critical time in raising dairy calves, believes K: A. Kendall, department of dairy husbandry, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. He pointed to one study which showed that 11.3 per cent of the calves dropped died at less than 180 days of age, and of the number of calves born, 8.3 per cent died before reaching one week of age.

"By exercising a few precautions in the early feeding and management of calves, it is possible to prevent many of these losses," Kendall emphasized. "If the calf can be kept healthy during the first three weeks, with reasonable care and management, it will have a good chance to grow satisfactorily."

Kendall suggested leaving the calf with the cow for the first day to get the colostrum or first milk which aids in protecting the young animal against some ailments and disorders, especially those affecting the digestive tract. The first milk is a rich source of vitamin A. This vitamin in sufficient quantity may prevent some tissues from becoming lowered in resistance and may possibly forestall the attacks of infective germs in the respiratory and alimentary tracts.

The first two or three days the calf should be fed warm whole milk from its mother at the rate of a total of five to six pounds a day, divided into two or preferably three feedings. After three days the average amount fed daily can be at the rate of one pound of whole milk to 10 pounds of live weight. This should be continued for about three weeks.

Further suggestions in calf raising are available from the office of your county farm adviser or by writing to the Department of Dairy Husbandry, University of Illinois, Urbana.

Present hog and corn prices normal decline

Farmers should not be confused by the recent declines in corn and hogs below their respective ceilings, as the prices of both are behaving in normal fashion for the season of the year, according to L. J. Norton, acting head of the department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Unless a period of basic readjustment to lower price levels is experienced, Norton believes that prices of corn and hogs may be expected to recover as we move out of the season when their prices are typically below the yearly average. Prospective supply and demand conditions suggest that the price of hogs is more likely to recover and crowd against the ceilings than is the price of corn.

The price of corn is usually at its low point from November to March and then rises to a high in August. It is this seasonal change in price that pays farmers for storing corn from the harvest season until the next summer. It is normal and not abnormal for corn to be below the seasonal average at harvest time.

Likewise, Norton points out that the price of hogs typically declines in October and November to a low in December and then, after the turn of the new year, rises to a spring peak in March and April. Usually there is a spring drop in price in May, after which the price rises to a seasonal high in July and August. These changes are related to volume of marketings, according to Norton, who added that most farmers find it convenient to have hogs ready for market in the periods of heavy receipts and lower prices. If hog prices held a dead level during the year, there would be no inducement to go to the trouble of having hogs ready to market at the off-seasons.

Farm income tax time

"While there are numerous changes in computing income taxes, the method of arriving at the farm net income remains the same," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. "This is the big item in arriving at the farm return. Farm returns have always been a matter of conjecture because farmers have not generally kept records. The day will come we dare say when farmers will be required to produce a rather accurate record. This crack-down has already come from some offices before this time.

"Some time ago we prepared a farm income tax book. Our experience with it was not too good as farmers bought the book but made no use of it. The printer is holding these plates, which ties up a lot of metal. If there is no further demand for it it is going to be scrapped and not printed anymore. We hold about 50 unsold copies now, and if there is not more demand it goes into the discard.

"There will be assistance at the Farm Bureau on Income Taxes for farmers. Peter Heintz will be at Blue Island and Attorney Fritz at Arlington Heights with Mr. Allison part time. Farmers filing a return before January 15 do not need to file a declaration. But those filing after January 15 must file a declaration before January 15 and a return before March 15. The State College of Agriculture is giving instructions on farm income taxes January 6 and 7 which is being attended by Mr. Fritz, Mr. Heintz and his assistant, Helen Heintz and Farm Adviser, C. A. Hughes. There will be no general meetings on Income Taxes this year."

SUES FOR SHOOTING

Angela Eson has sued Samuel Dempsey in Superior court for $7,500 damages for accidently shooting her. It was on June 5 last as she was out hanging washing in the yard at her home in Prospect Heights. Dempsey, who lived next door, had his shot gun out and fired it so that shot struck her in the face, injuring her seriously.

Lt. Lewis Helm navigator for ATC and troop carriers

Home on furlough last week after spending 16 months in the India-China-Burma theater was Lt. Lewis Helm of Arlington Heights. Lt. Helm, a navigator in the air corps, "flew the Hump" for the Air Transport Command four months, and the other twelve flew aboard a troop carrier plane in China.

"Flying the Hump was tough going on the plane," said Lt. Helm, "but my hat goes off to the guys in the infantry who stay at their fox-holes at the front for two and three years at a time. Theirs is the tough job.

"Our plane had two narrow escapes, one a forced landing, and the other when we were caught in a thunderhead. We had been flying at about 12,000 feet coming near our base, when we struck the thunderhead. The plane suddenly lurched upward 2,000 feet with as much force as if we were in a power dive. We were all straining at our seats, with terrific pressure against everything.

Plane turns over

"It seemed some mighty hand pushed us up, and then flopped us on our backs. The equipment started flying about the ship. The passengers in back also had a rough time of it. The ship then dove from its back, spiraling downward. It was then I thought our time had come.

"We dropped fast, but the pilot was able to right the plane at 5,500 feet. I don't see how he ever did it. It seemed as if that mighty hand had reached out again and saved us. A lot of equipment was smashed and our passengers were pretty badly cut up. But we were lucky to be alive.

"Another time while flying over the Hump (Himalayan mountains) one motor conked out. Were losing altitude fast and had to throw out all freight. We couldn't get rid of it fast enough for me. All of us threw and kicked out everything we could. At last the one remaining motor began to lift again and we were able to make an emergency field.

"There were two routes over the Hump, the north at 20,000 feet and the south at around 10,000. We usually traveled the north. We used a C-87, a converted B-24, and it was nice to have those extra two motors. Most of the time, however, we flew a C-47, the all-purpose ship.

Gas Has Priority

"We handled all types of freight, supplies and mail, but gasoline rated A-1. Big trouble was the ratio of gas used to gas carried. We would carry in 1,000 gallons of gas and use 800 gallons for the round trip.

"When we transferred to the troop carrier command, we flew about 50 per cent freight and 50 per cent passengers. They weren't usually our own troops, as the only U. S. troops in China are service troops and the 14th air force. Chinese officials, mostly military, were our main passengers. On one trip we carried 21 Chinese generals. It was a valuable load. Sidelight on that trip was the rough weather with all passengers getting sick. What a mess that was. When we landed we bolted for the door to get out in the air.

We lose bases

"The 14th air force used to have plenty of bases throughout China. It was from these bases that our B-25s would take off to bomb Japanese shipping. And what a prey that was. Convoy would come in, the entire squadron would go out, and they'd always come back with 'just like shooting fish in a barrel.' It wasn't unusual to have an entire convoy destroyed. There was little or no opposition.

"It was no wonder, then, that the Japs decided to move against China and capture our main bases. The Chinese couldn't fight the Japs with only rifles, so it was slaughter. All the 14th air force could do was pit P-38s against 250,000 Japs in one case. The Nips lost plenty of men and machines but it was no use. They'd travel at night and hide in the day time.

"With the main bases lost the others withered. Many people at home don't realize the importance of those bases. As it now stands, only the B-29s can be used against that Jap shipping, and those ships are too valuable for that type of work. U. S. troops will have to be landed on the mainland, and the bases retaken before effective air operations can be carried out against the Nips.

Japs attack

"Jap opposition was usually weak in China so far as the air force was concerned. But when the Nips did come there were no anti-aircraft guns to hold them back. It was just our planes against theirs. The Chinese have a good airplane warning system, but no searchlights or anti-aircraft guns at all.

"In one case their system failed, however. A bunch of Jap bombers followed some of our B-25s in to the field. All lights were on, with all of our ships landed on the ground. A few more started coming in at the end of the field, only to be Japs who dropped their bombs squarely on the field. Damage was negligible, however. This was the only time this happened, I believe.

"Even on our own base only anti-aircraft we had were a few .50 calibres. Regular AA guns are too heavy to be transported by air, and don't rate too high a priority.

"Living conditions in the Orient 'stink.' As most everyone knows India seems to be the worse. The climate, people and land stink. Disease is rampant, of course, and there is filth everywhere. Most of the natives chew 'bettle-nut', an intoxicating substance. They take these nuts, cover them with a paste and wrap them in leaves from a beetle tree.

"When chewing this substance their lips become a vivid red. It is quite a habit with the people and everyone chews it. Of course, the natives spit on the streets, giving everything that red color. It smells and doesn't wash away. I guess this stuff has been piling up during past centuries. Anyway, the country smells as if it has.

"All you have to do to appreciate your own country is go abroad. And living in the Orient is all you need. Everywhere you go there is filth. This is true, at least, of the southern part of the country.

Competition in shows

"There was one theatre in one city that we attended a couple of times. The show had left the States two or three years before, which wasn't bad. Chiinese characters were shown alongside the screen of the American pictures. We just ignored the Chinese and thought we could enjoy the show.

"However, spitting, sneezing and coughing is a regular part of the show. The Chiinese diidn't seem to mind, but we did. It is very disconcerting to have the guy next to you doing all that, and it spoils your appetite for the show. Usually we kept to our own army post shows.

"It was the same thing in Chinese restaurants. The natives sit at large round tables, slurping their food. There are scraps aplenty on the floor, plus the usual clearing of throats and spitting.

Eat dogs, too

"The individual families had not too much meat, but pigs were plentiful. Water buffalo were also eaten on occasion. The Chinese also take quite a fancy to dogs, except black ones. I know we had some pets around the base, but they were always black dogs.

"In one case our 'number 1 boy' borrowed a rifle to get some meat for his family. One of the boys went with him to show him how to use it. When they sighted a white dog, the Chinaman said, 'there it is' and fired.

"Our own food supply was o.k., though there were no luxuries. We had butter once a week, but had eggs sometimes three times a day. We could never see many hens about but we didn't care, so long as the eggs were good. Eggs and rice provide a good dish, and we didn't get too tired of it.

Few cigarettes

"Cigarettes, American brand, are worth their weight in gold. A carton would bring $14. Natives in India and China would continually seek American cigarettes. I tried a couple of the British smokes and knew why. The Indian tobacco in particular is especially bad.

"Inflation has taken a turn for the worse in China. 'One Yuan' before the war was worth 3 to an American dollar. When I left the ratio was 250 to 1. If you plan to shop or buy a meal you need a roll several times bigger than your fist."

Lt. Helm entered the service in April of '41. After serving 16 months overseas he arrived back in the States the first of November. His wife lives in St. Joseph, Missouri, where Lewis first reported. He arrived in Arlington November 10, and left again this past Sunday to report to California.

Future is indefinite for Lewis, but will probably include a continental station for a while, and then overseas again.

Germany

From Germany comes word of Mert Taylor of Arlington Heights. Mert was the first person to write WUS from Germany the week of October 6 of this year.

"Just a few lines to let you know that I am receiving the paper after an absence of over six months. I missed the anniversary edition and from the praises of the other GIs from home it must have been quite a paper. Would appreciate it if you would send one along with your next weekly edition.

"I've been in Germany quite some time now and it's a great feeling to know that we are now battling in Hitler's backyard. Jerry's shells are landing in his own territory and his own people and homes are catching the full blunt of this war which he alone started. The German people respect our air and ground power and it's funny how quickly they all denounce Hitler and the Nazis when we move in.

"Keep up the good work back home and we'll do our share to end this thing over here soon."

His address is Pfc. Merton Taylor, 16146111, APO 9, % PM, New York N. Y.

From Germany this week comes a letter from Henry Brztowski of Palatine.

"I want to thank the people who are making it possible for my receiving the Enterprise. I am very grateful to them all. Twenty minutes ago I received the first issue in Germany. It was dated August 11. It certainly has come a long way. I thought that you would like to know where your first copy was received in Germany. It is raining so I had to read it in a German dugout. Good dugout, good paper, what more can a guy ask for (?) here in Germany.

"I would like to tell you something about the German populace, but cannot. I haven't conversed with any and do not intend to unless it be of some military value. I just hope they remain in their place.

"Well, I must close now as one cannot stay in one place too long."

Maryland

Pfc. Edwin Breitzmann of Northbrook was home on 10 days furlough from Florida. He and his wife will report to a station in Maryland.

Hawaii

Private John R. Nugent, whose wife, Rita Mary, lives at 6715 Oakley ave., Chicago, and whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L.

Larsen, Prospect Heights, is expected to return soon from the Hawaiian Islands for a 21-day furlough, after which he will be assigned to another Army Air Force station.

Private Nugent was graduated from Mt. Carmel High School in 1939 and worked for a short time as a salesman. Entering the Army in 1940 he was in the Hawaiian Islands during the Jap attack on December 7, 1941, and later served in the Battle of Midway campaign.

He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

France

Now in France is Wilbert Haemker of Palatine. He reports that he was originally landed in England but has been moved to France, and that the Enterprise hasn't caught up with him yet. His address is Pfc. Wilbert D. Haemker, 36736543, APO 887, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Capt. Robert Bingham of Wheeling writes from France that he is fine and still getting three meals a day. The weather is wet and cold. Half snow and half rain, but Bob says he generally finds a hole to sleep in.

Ways to Beat the Car Shortage

1. Maybe you'd better start building something like this for temporary transportation, if your car hasn't much "life expectancy" left in it.

Because it's likely to be some time—as much as four years, according to an automobile manufacturer's survey—before enough new cars can be made to fill the great shortage.

Of course, there's another thing you can do to tide yourself over to your next car—the easiest and best thing possible...

2. You can insure your car's lasting till the new one's ready...WITH PROPER CARE.

Proper care means regular treatment by your Tydol dealer to keep your car sweet-running, trouble-free and wear-resistant. It means fighting off friction . . . heading off trouble at dozens of vital spots before it can happen.

Here's how your Tydol Dealer insures long, trouble-free Car life:

Fresh Veedol Motor Oil every 1,000 miles (or every 60 days, whichever comes sooner) to prevent harmful oxidation that results from today's limited driving. Veedol is made from 100% Pennsylvania crude—world's champion wear-fighter.

Veedol Safety-Check Lubrication to reach every moving chassis part with 5 specialized, friction-defying lubricants. Includes a FREE inspection of the 18 vital points where breakdowns usually begin.

Tire care from A to Z—frequent inflation to maintain proper air pressure; inspection for cuts and bruises; switching to prevent one-side wear; prompt attention to weakened places. Re-capping arranged before carcass becomes unusable.

Battery, radiator, fan belt and spark plug service. High quality replacements if needed. Efficient anti-freeze for winter protection, with regular checks to maintain proper strength of solution.

Competition in shows

"There was one theatre in one city that we attended a couple of times. The show had left the States two or three years before, which wasn't bad. Chiinese characters were shown alongside the screen of the American pictures. We just ignored the Chinese and thought we could enjoy the show.

"However, spitting, sneezing and coughing is a regular part of the show. The Chiinese diidn't seem to mind, but we did. It is very disconcerting to have the guy next to you doing all that, and it spoils your appetite for the show. Usually we kept to our own army post shows.

"It was the same thing in Chinese restaurants. The natives sit at large round tables, slurping their food. There are scraps aplenty on the floor, plus the usual clearing of throats and spitting.

Eat dogs, too

"The individual families had not too much meat, but pigs were plentiful. Water buffalo were also eaten on occasion. The Chinese also take quite a fancy to dogs, except black ones. I know we had some pets around the base, but they were always black dogs.

"In one case our 'number 1 boy' borrowed a rifle to get some meat for his family. One of the boys went with him to show him how to use it. When they sighted a white dog, the Chinaman said, 'there it is' and fired.

"Our own food supply was o.k., though there were no luxuries. We had butter once a week, but had eggs sometimes three times a day. We could never see many hens about but we didn't care, so long as the eggs were good. Eggs and rice provide a good dish, and we didn't get too tired of it.

Few cigarettes

"Cigarettes, American brand, are worth their weight in gold. A carton would bring $14. Natives in India and China would continually seek American cigarettes. I tried a couple of the British smokes and knew why. The Indian tobacco in particular is especially bad.

"Inflation has taken a turn for the worse in China. 'One Yuan' before the war was worth 3 to an American dollar. When I left the ratio was 250 to 1. If you plan to shop or buy a meal you need a roll several times bigger than your fist."

Lt. Helm entered the service in April of '41. After serving 16 months overseas he arrived back in the States the first of November. His wife lives in St. Joseph, Missouri, where Lewis first reported. He arrived in Arlington November 10, and left again this past Sunday to report to California.

Future is indefinite for Lewis, but will probably include a continental station for a while, and then overseas again.

Germany

From Germany comes word of Mert Taylor of Arlington Heights. Mert was the first person to write WUS from Germany the week of October 6 of this year.

"Just a few lines to let you know that I am receiving the paper after an absence of over six months. I missed the anniversary edition and from the praises of the other GIs from home it must have been quite a paper. Would appreciate it if you would send one along with your next weekly edition.

"I've been in Germany quite some time now and it's a great feeling to know that we are now battling in Hitler's backyard. Jerry's shells are landing in his own territory and his own people and homes are catching the full blunt of this war which he alone started. The German people respect our air and ground power and it's funny how quickly they all denounce Hitler and the Nazis when we move in.

His address is Pfc. Merton Taylor, 16146111, APO 9, % PM, New York N. Y.

From Germany this week comes a letter from Henry Brztowski of Palatine.

"I want to thank the people who are making it possible for my receiving the Enterprise. I am very grateful to them all. Twenty minutes ago I received the first issue in Germany. It was dated August 11. It certainly has come a long way. I thought that you would like to know where your first copy was received in Germany. It is raining so I had to read it in a German dugout. Good dugout, good paper, what more can a guy ask for (?) here in Germany.

"I would like to tell you something about the German populace, but cannot. I haven't conversed with any and do not intend to unless it be of some military value. I just hope they remain in their place.

Maryland

Pfc. Edwin Breitzmann of Northbrook was home on 10 days furlough from Florida. He and his wife will report to a station in Maryland.

Hawaii

Private John R. Nugent, whose wife, Rita Mary, lives at 6715 Oakley ave., Chicago, and whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L.

Larsen, Prospect Heights, is expected to return soon from the Hawaiian Islands for a 21-day furlough, after which he will be assigned to another Army Air Force station.

Private Nugent was graduated from Mt. Carmel High School in 1939 and worked for a short time as a salesman. Entering the Army in 1940 he was in the Hawaiian Islands during the Jap attack on December 7, 1941, and later served in the Battle of Midway campaign.

He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

France

Now in France is Wilbert Haemker of Palatine. He reports that he was originally landed in England but has been moved to France, and that the Enterprise hasn't caught up with him yet. His address is Pfc. Wilbert D. Haemker, 36736543, APO 887, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Capt. Robert Bingham of Wheeling writes from France that he is fine and still getting three meals a day. The weather is wet and cold. Half snow and half rain, but Bob says he generally finds a hole to sleep in.

Utah

From Tooele, Utah, comes word of Harold Framberg of Arlington Heights.

"I am once again at the same old grind of guarding prisoners. It sure gets monotonous, but I'm glad to be of some help to my country.

"I didn't get to see all of my friends while I was home, but I tried. I don't know where those fifteen days went, but they sure flew by. I want to wish both you, your staff, and all my friends a real happy Thanksgiving."

His address is Pfc. H. Framberg, SCU 1901 POW camp, Tooele, Utah.

Florida

Changing his address at Miami, Florida, is Al Harth of Arlington Heights.

"Am writing this to give a change of address. I don't want to miss a single issue of the paper.

"I like it a lot down here. It is very warm, even warm enough to swim. Am taking a six week's course in aerial gunnery. Won't be long until I'm out there.

"Just as all other servicemen await their home town paper, so I await the Herald. Your 'With Uncle Sam' section is especially good. Keep it going."

His address is A. J. Harth, S1c, Class 2045, NAGS, Miami, Fla.

Ways to Beat the Car Shortage

1. Maybe you'd better start building something like this for temporary transportation, if your car hasn't much "life expectancy" left in it.

Because it's likely to be some time—as much as four years, according to an automobile manufacturer's survey—before enough new cars can be made to fill the great shortage.

Of course, there's another thing you can do to tide yourself over to your next car—the easiest and best thing possible...

2. You can insure your car's lasting till the new one's ready...WITH PROPER CARE.

Proper care means regular treatment by your Tydol dealer to keep your car sweet-running, trouble-free and wear-resistant. It means fighting off friction . . . heading off trouble at dozens of vital spots before it can happen.

Here's how your Tydol Dealer insures long, trouble-free Car life:

Fresh Veedol Motor Oil every 1,000 miles (or every 60 days, whichever comes sooner) to prevent harmful oxidation that results from today's limited driving. Veedol is made from 100% Pennsylvania crude—world's champion wear-fighter.

Veedol Safety-Check Lubrication to reach every moving chassis part with 5 specialized, friction-defying lubricants. Includes a FREE inspection of the 18 vital points where breakdowns usually begin.

Tire care from A to Z—frequent inflation to maintain proper air pressure; inspection for cuts and bruises; switching to prevent one-side wear; prompt attention to weakened places. Re-capping arranged before carcass becomes unusable.

Battery, radiator, fan belt and spark plug service. High quality replacements if needed. Efficient anti-freeze for winter protection, with regular checks to maintain proper strength of solution.

"Am writing this letter to inform you of my new address. This is always one of my first little jobs to do since I don't want to miss getting the paper. We sure enjoy the paper and appreciate it very much. I will be here for 15 weeks and if my luck holds out will get my wings and commission at that time.

His address is A/C Marvin A. Cosman, ASN 36753739, Class 24-E, A/C Detch., Altus Army Air Field, Altus, Oklahoma.

With Uncle Sam

New Guinea

Fred Brautigan of Palatine was formerly stationed in New Guinea, and in the absence of any other word, we're going to keep him there.

"I am writing this letter to inform you of my present address and also to apologize for not contributing to the page of Our Boys in Service. I hope I can kind of make up for it with this letter.

"I haven't had a copy of the Palatine paper for a couple of months now but I'll really appreciate it more when I do get it. It sure seems funny not to get the paper. I said funny but it's more like missing an old friend. Maybe it's because it always has news about old friends.

"By the way here is a little poem the boys out here made up. I helped a little, that is in places. It really isn't original, but

A HITCH IN HELL

I am thinking of things I left behind I hate to put on paper what is going thru my mind.

We dug millions of ditches and cleared miles of ground

There is an exciting consolation though, so listen what I have to tell:

When we die we will go to heaven because we did our hitch in hell.

We built galleys for cooks to burn our beans,

We stood a million watches and cleaned officers latrines;

We picked cactus from the seat of our pants,

We sweat blood, bled and battered as we spit out gnats and ants;

And when our work is finished, our friends behind us always can tell

We always take our atabrine, those darn bitter little pills

To build up our resistance to fever, aches, and chills;

We have seen a million shells burst around us and in the sky,

As we run for fox holes the daisy cutters fly,

When the final all clear is sounded and we shed our earthly cares,

We will put on the biggest parade of all upon the Golden Stairs;

The Angels, they will greet us and upon their harps will play,

We will hear Gabriel blow his horn and St. Peter loudly holler

Front seats for these guys from New Guinea, they have done their Hitch in Hell.

"Another thing this is Jap stationery. We got it from some Jap prisoners. Right now it's all we have. But then, it's kind of a novelty any way."

Ohio

Frederick H. Wickenkamp AMM2/c, now stationed at Columbus, Ohio, was home for three days leave recently. Upon returning to Columbus, he heard good news that he was one of ten chosen from the base to go to Canada for 8 days to inspect some planes. Because of his knowledge of hydraulics he was chosen. He went to the hydraulic school in Columbus for two weeks.

His wife and son Freddie are staying in Arlington Heights until he returns from Canada, they will then join him.

Fred entered the service in April, 1943. He had his boot training at Farragut, Idaho, was then sent to Norman, Okla., to the AMM school for five months, and after completing this course he was sent to Columbus, Ohio, where he has been stationed the last eleven months.

His address is Frederick H. Wickenkamp, NAF, Barracks B. AMM, Hanger No. 1, % Eng., Port Columbus, 1, Ohio.

Tennessee

Raymond Anderson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anderson, 304 E. McDonald rd., Prospect Heights, left Nov. 22 for duty with the navy. He was sworn in on November 11 and was called in for service on November 22. He is a Seaman second class and is now at Memphis, Tenn., where he is taking his boot training and will become a member of a naval air crew.

England

From England this week comes work of Bob Reed of Arlington Heights.

"Just a note to inform you that I changed my address. I want to be sure to receive my copy of the Arlington Heights Herald, so I can read all about my friends in the service. (All the boys certainly appreciate the service you are rendering in consolidating and editing letters from them).

"I have been in England only a few weeks, but have already noticed that many things are different from the States. Cars with right hand drive, using the left side of the road, are really a novelty. Most of the English machines are smaller and seem like miniatures compared to ous. It is odd to see old brick houses with numerous chimneys, dotting the landscape. The countryside is very picturesque with its rolling, green pastures and neatly clipped hedge rows. The only gripe I have about England is their climate. It seems to rain here incessantly and the sun has a hard job trying to break through the clouds."

2nd Lt. Steve Mueller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mueller of Schoenbeck rd., Arlington Heights, recently completed an orientation course designed to bridge the gap between training in the States and combat soldiering against the enemy in Germany.

At an Air Service Command Station in England Lt. Mueller attended a series of lectures given by veterans of his command which included instructions on chemical warfare defense and pertinent tips on staying healthy in a combat zone.

His next station will be one from which America's fighting planes cover the advance into German.

Before entering the Army Air Forces, Steve was employed as an inspector by the Dole Valve Co. in Chicago.

Capt. John Sicks of Wheeling has been spending sometime at a replacement center in England following his release from the hospital. He is feeling fine but growing impatient on his long period of inactivity.

Florida

Now at Sanford, Florida, is Ensign Bob Jacobs of Arlington Heights.

"I finally got settled down to my new job which is really interesting. I'm out here in Sanford, Florida, which is a beautiful spot,

I believe one of the nicest stations I was ever at. I was changed from a Hell-Cat and was given a brand new modernized version of the old Wild Cat, now called the FM-2. It is a sweet plane. It is plenty fast. This is about all I can tell you about it because they would get after me for giving out confidential information."

His address is Ens. Robert W. Jacobs, USNR, Box 6, No. 66, VF-6 OTU, USNAS, Sanford, Florida.

Atlantic

Clint Pickett, Jr., MOMM2/c of Itasca who has been in the Navy for over two years and is now on duty aboard a PCS craft in the Atlantic, had quite an experience in Havana during the hurricane which swept that port last October 18. During the height of the storm, he, together with six other members of his crew, volunteered for special duty which included the mooring and securing of several craft that had broken loose from their moorings and the saving of three merchant seamen who were aboard a barge.

At a recent dress inspection aboard ship, on behalf of the Commandant of the Seventh Naval District, the American Ambassador to Cuba and the Cuban Government, the crew of the PCS craft were publicly thanked for their work during the storm and special thanks were given to the seven members of the crew for loyalty and devotion to duty in assisting in the mooring of the three ships and the rescue of the three merchant seamen.

We dug millions of ditches and cleared miles of ground

There is an exciting consolation though, so listen what I have to tell:

When we die we will go to heaven because we did our hitch in hell.

We built galleys for cooks to burn our beans,

We stood a million watches and cleaned officers latrines;

We picked cactus from the seat of our pants,

We sweat blood, bled and battered as we spit out gnats and ants;

And when our work is finished, our friends behind us always can tell

Give those guys the front seat cause they have done their hitch in hell.

We always take our atabrine, those darn bitter little pills

To build up our resistance to fever, aches, and chills;

We have seen a million shells burst around us and in the sky,

As we run for fox holes the daisy cutters fly,

Put out your weed and douse the glims some one hollers

This isn't a picnic, it's another night in hell,

When the final all clear is sounded and we shed our earthly cares,

We will put on the biggest parade of all upon the Golden Stairs;

The Angels, they will greet us and upon their harps will play,

We will hear Gabriel blow his horn and St. Peter loudly holler

Front seats for these guys from New Guinea, they have done their Hitch in Hell.

"Another thing this is Jap stationery. We got it from some Jap prisoners. Right now it's all we have. But then, it's kind of a novelty any way."

Ohio

Frederick H. Wickenkamp AMM2/c, now stationed at Columbus, Ohio, was home for three days leave recently. Upon returning to Columbus, he heard good news that he was one of ten chosen from the base to go to Canada for 8 days to inspect some planes. Because of his knowledge of hydraulics he was chosen. He went to the hydraulic school in Columbus for two weeks.

His wife and son Freddie are staying in Arlington Heights until he returns from Canada, they will then join him.

Fred entered the service in April, 1943. He had his boot training at Farragut, Idaho, was then sent to Norman, Okla., to the AMM school for five months, and after completing this course he was sent to Columbus, Ohio, where he has been stationed the last eleven months.

His address is Frederick H. Wickenkamp, NAF, Barracks B. AMM, Hanger No. 1, % Eng., Port Columbus, 1, Ohio.

Tennessee

Raymond Anderson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anderson, 304 E. McDonald rd., Prospect Heights, left Nov. 22 for duty with the navy. He was sworn in on November 11 and was called in for service on November 22. He is a Seaman second class and is now at Memphis, Tenn., where he is taking his boot training and will become a member of a naval air crew.

England

From England this week comes work of Bob Reed of Arlington Heights.

"Just a note to inform you that I changed my address. I want to be sure to receive my copy of the Arlington Heights Herald, so I can read all about my friends in the service. (All the boys certainly appreciate the service you are rendering in consolidating and editing letters from them).

"I have been in England only a few weeks, but have already noticed that many things are different rom the States. Cars with right hand drive, using the left side of the road, are really a novelty. Most of the English machines are smaller and seem like miniatures compared to ous. It is odd to see old brick houses with numerous chimneys, dotting the landscape. The countryside is very picturesque with its rolling, green pastures and neatly clipped hedge rows. The only gripe I have about England is their climate. It seems to rain here incessantly and the sun has a hard job trying to break through the clouds."

2nd Lt. Steve Mueller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mueller of Schoenbeck rd., Arlington Heights, recently completed an orientation course designed to bridge the gap between training in the States and combat soldiering against the enemy in Germany.

At an Air Service Command Station in England Lt. Mueller attended a series of lectures given by veterans of his command which included instructions on chemical warfare defense and pertinent tips on staying healthy in a combat zone.

His next station will be one from which America's fighting planes cover the advance into German.

Before entering the Army Air Forces, Steve was employed as an inspector by the Dole Valve Co. in Chicago.

Capt. John Sicks of Wheeling has been spending sometime at a replacement center in England following his release from the hospital. He is feeling fine but growing impatient on his long period of inactivity.

Florida

Now at Sanford, Florida, is Ensign Bob Jacobs of Arlington Heights.

"I finally got settled down to my new job which is really interesting. I'm out here in Sanford, Florida, which is a beautiful spot,

I believe one of the nicest stations I was ever at. I was changed from a Hell-Cat and was given a brand new modernized version of the old Wild Cat, now called the FM-2. It is a sweet plane. It is plenty fast. This is about all I can tell you about it because they would get after me for giving out confidential information."

His address is Ens. Robert W. Jacobs, USNR, Box 6, No. 68, VF-6 OTU, USNAS, Sanford, Florida.

Atlantic

Clint Pickett, Jr., MOMM2/c of Itasca who has been in the Navy for over two years and is now on duty aboard a PCS craft in the Atlantic, had quite an experience in Havana during the hurricane which swept that port last October 18. During the height of the storm, he, together with six other members of his crew, volunteered for special duty which included the mooring and securing of several craft that had broken loose from their moorings and the saving of three merchant seamen who were aboard a barge.

At a recent dress inspection aboard ship, on behalf of the Commandant of the Seventh Naval District, the American Ambassador to Cuba and the Cuban Government, the crew of the PCS craft were publicly thanked for their work during the storm and special thanks were given to the seven members of the crew for loyalty and devotion to duty in assisting in the mooring of the three ships and the rescue of the three merchant seamen.

Given citation

Pfc. Leonard H. Kranz, 25, 402 W. Euclid ave., Arlington Heights, is entitled to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge, mark of the highest citation that is awarded units of the American Armed Forces.

His AAF B-26 Marauder bomber group in the Mediterranean theater has been cited by the War Department for "outstanding performance of duty in armed conflict with the enemy." During aerial operations which preceded and supported the Allied breakthrough at Cassino, Marauders displayed extraordinary accuracy bombing numerous targets.

On May 12, in direct support of the Fifth Army drive towards Rome, the group achieved spectacular results in an aerial attack on heavily defended enemy troop concentrations, including the famed 15th Panzer Grenadier Division. Despite numerous planes damaged and crew members wounded, the unescorted Marauders released almost 4,000 fragmentation bombs on the target. Irreplaceable casualties and destruction were piled on the already hard-pressed enemy, smashing key reserves and aiding the Allied drive northwards.

The group was cited for "results which set it above and apart from other units, typical of the continuously superior precision bombing made possible through unstinted effort and superlative performance of duty by every member of the organization. Through their unsurpassed courage, skill in combat and steadfast devotion to duty, the personnel of the group have reflected great credit upon themselves and the Military Service of the United States."

Marauders from the group have flown more than 350 missions during the African, Sicilian, Italian and France campaigns. The group has also received the Croix de Guerre from General DeGaulle and the provisional French government. Overseas since October, 1942, Private First Class Kranz is a Marauder bomber mechanic.

New Guinea

Now in New Guinea comes word of Forrest Davis of Arlington Heights. "Slim" was a former employee of Paddock Publications before he "saw the light" and became city clerk of Arlington Heights.

"Just a line to let you know I am in New Guinea but that is all I can elaborate on the location at present. I feel sure the censor will allow me to say 'Home was never like this'. The scenery is beautiful if you like vegetation and mountains. There are plenty of cocoanuts here. I guess that's about all too.

"Perhaps you know that New Guinea is quite an island, some 1400 miles long and 400 miles wide and it does remind a person of the Rocky mountains in the good old U. S. A. 'from a distance'.

"I am well, in fact I am swell. The food is as good as I have ever had. The mosquitoes and lizards are plentiful too, they tell me. Well, you might be sure the 'old salts' try to scare the new boys with tall stories. We heard them all.

"I am hopeful that I may meet some of my old friends but I haven't much confidence of any success. I will appreciate your cooperation in passing on my address and location.

"Give my regard to the gang in the shop and the boys in the City Hall, too."

His address is Forrest F. Davis, SK3c, % FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Pfc. Roger Rockenbach of Wheeling has come through another invasion feeling fine. Although his present whereabouts are not disclosed he says the natives are very friendly. He has taken some good pictures he hopes to show his friends. Pfc. Rockenbach is a veteran of the New Guinea campaign where he picked up a collection of Japanese souvenirs which he sent home recently. Among them are a Japanese flag, for which he had been offered $100, a bayonet, hat, flying gloves, fans, medals and some cigarettes which proved a "knock-out" for those who tried them. Roger sends regards to all his friends and will be happy to hear from them.

Oahu

Now in Oahu is Ed Bublitz of Arlington Heights.

"Not much has happened here except that I have moved to Oahu. Haven't been to Honolulu yet but hope to soon. There are quite a few of the boys around here I'd like to look up.

"At present I am kept busy with jungle training, etc., in preparation for a trip down under. It's not a bad deal at all, and I'm getting along.

"Haven't seen any papers for a long time and I'm very much interested in the bowling scores. I like to keep an account of all the 'fish'."

Merrill Marauder back after 4 mo. in Burma

Pfc. Tom Dolinajec tells of 20 months in India theater

After serving a period of several months in Burma with Merrill's Marauders Pfc. Tom Dolinajec of Arlington Heights has returned home for a 21 day furlough. Tom served overseas for 20 months, four of them with Brigadier General Merrill's Jap-harassing outfit.

"Merrill believed in plenty of action, and our outfit was continually looking for it. Our job was to hunt out the enemy, destroy him, and return to allied lines. We would then choose a new mission, going on another death-dealing adventure.

"But our trips were far from adventure. They were just matter-of-fact, common-sense battle missions. It was simple. We would go ahead of advancing Chinese lines, pick out some Jap outpost, and attempt to destroy it. Many times we succeeded, and sometimes we were forced to fall back. But only to return again and complete the job.

Not so tough

"Fighting in the jungle isn't as hard as some people think it to be. At least all of us prefer it to the open style in Europe. In the jungle all we wore were fatigue clothes, plus poncho, blanket and rations. Compare this to the amount of equipment necessary for the European soldier, including heavy clothing.

"It was always hot in Burma, so if you got wet in your fox-hole, you would dry quickly. In Europe you'd catch cold or freeze. In the jungle tanks and heavy artillery are taboo. Foliage is too thick to permit passage of anything off the wide trails except mules. Thus the only guns you have to hear are mortars and machine guns, plus rifles. In Europe you go practically nuts listening to the roar of bombs, 105s, 155s and 240s, plus the roar of tanks and rockets, and mortars and machine guns.

"Then, too, the Japs opened this war with certain weapons and are still using them. They haven't advanced the way the Nazis have. Rockets are unknown in Burma. Then, too, the U. S. has mastery of the air over Burma, making Nip planes as scarce as Chicago street cars in the early morning hours.

Along Ledo road

"Our outfit, composed of not too many men, fought along the Ledo road. That is a road being constructed by American engineers to connect with the Burma road into China. The engineers are doing a wonderful job. At places the road is no wider than one truck. Then again it is a super-highway. The bulldozers just push away the earth, including many hills, and flatten it out. As soon as any section is completed thousands of trucks roar back and forth.

"Of course, our excursions were off the beaten path. Natives in past tens of years have worn numerous paths in the jungles. We usually followed these, though many were no wider than a foot path. We would always send intelligence officers out ahead to look for 'targets'.

"Sometimes when we would come to a strong point, we would circle around and attack from the rear. This would take half the Jap strength, and the remainder would be busy fighting the advancing Chinese. This move proved successful time after time.

Interpreters help

"One of the biggest factors in the unit's extraordinary success (15 per cent casualties) were the interpreters. They were Japanese-Americans who would travel with the commanding officers. It seems the Nips always give commands at a shout. In the jungle you could get almost on top of a man without being seen, and our interpreters would advance to within yards of enemy lines.

"Then, as enemy commands were shouted as to what moves to make, the interpreters would tell us, so we could go the other way. In one special case a battalion was trapped by two units of the Jap army. It looked as if the jig was up until those commands were again shouted by the Nips. Our interpreters then led us 'the other way' and our unit escaped the trap.

"When these Jap-Americans first came to our outfit, some of the boys from the South Pacific stated 'if they come within our sights we'll get them'. But from the first action they proved their worth over and over again. In the end they could have anything for asking from these same South Pacific vets.

Planes bring supplies

"Naturally, we couldn't carry supplies for days on end, and dropping ammunition and supplies from the skies was the only answer. We kept constant radio contact with the air force and would order whatever we needed as easy as putting in the daily grocery order. We'd pick out a clearing for dropping the supplies, and sometimes the planes would get there before we could.

"One time this backfire. One of the outfits picked a hill on which to receive the supplies. It's hard for airmen to hit a hill with supplies, and all our rations landed in Jap hands. It was rubbing it in to us when we could smell the Nips cooking our rations. But generally the plan worked perfectly. We had top cooperation from the air force. Seeing those C-47s coming over always gave us a feeling of pride. We also often called on the air corps to aid us in attacking particularly heavy Jap concentrations.

"All supplies were carried by mules. The mule-skinners knew their business and did a wonderful job with the animals. In one case we covered certain territory, taking a full day. When we had to retreat these same mules covered that same distance in just over two hours. They seem anxious to move, providing you keep them moving. But stopping a lot slows down the mules and brings out their stubborness.

Hard to see dead Japs

Actual day-to-day results were always hard to determin. The nips would usually bury their dead, smoothing over the ground. It's disconcerting to fight an outfit for a couple of days, and then to move up and find no enemy dead. As far as individual count goes, you never know whether you hit a specific Jap, or whether it was the guy next to you. But we later heard that the commanding general of the enemy 18th division, the unit we were engaging, had committed suicide. Such action indicated reasonable success.

"Some men contracted malaria but the percentage was very small. Supervision was strict and everyone had his atabrine tablets to take daily. Of course, some took triple doses when they felt bad, with ill effects. Others thought they needn't bother, and suffered bad cases. I followed orders pretty closely and stayed healthy.

"We had originally gone to India, after serving 6 months duty at Trinidad on the way over. We arrived in India in October of '43 for special training. Merrill's unit was organized with volunteers and we went on our campaign, to return to 'civilization' in May of this year.

Filth and beggars

"Most outstanding impressions I received from India was its filth and beggars. Every where you went beggars asked for tips. Many times you had to practically beat your way out of a circle of beggars. As far as the filth was concerned, such areas of Bombay and Calcutta were declared out of bounds to all servicemen. The downtown districts were somewhat modern and looked a lot like the large cities in America.

"We had open air movies at our rear base, with a new show every other night. Some of the natives would also stand around to see the picture, though I don't know why. They certainly couldn't understand them.

"The Red Cross in Calcutta was a great success. They provided a restaurant, library, tours and lectures, dances and sports kits that included sports equipment. They are doing a great service.

Resent the British

"Many people ask me about how the British are received by the natives in the Orient, compared to the Americans. One example I saw answers this question. At a public well a bunch of us G. I.'s were standing awaiting our turn. Up came some Britishers who pushed their way to the pump and helped themselves. Anyone would resent such action and that is just what happened. The British always had this imperialistic attitude toward everyone. I think the Chinese dislike the British for the same reason.

"On the other hand, Americans are recognized as the great friends of all. Our country represents the perfect example of freedom to everyone. Many Orientals have an idealistic picture of this country, but compared to theirs, America is idealistic.

"My own opinion, though, is that India would fare even worse if granted independence by the British. Though the natives receive few benefits under British rule, they would receive even less if the great Indian moneyed men were able to gain control of the government. And there are plenty of rich Indians waiting for the day that Great Britain will grant that freedom."

Tom was granted a furlough because of his volunteering for the marauders while already overseas. He covered India by train in five days, and caught a plane at Karachi for Egypt, Africa and America. He arrived home November 8, and reported to Miami, Florida, November 29.

Kansas

Home on furlough for 12 days is Wilbert Schlomann of Itasca. He is stationed at Ft. Riley, Kansas. Pvt. Schlomann arrived home Saturday and is scheduled to go back Sunday, Dec. 7.

Home on 10 days leave was petty officer 3rd class Charles Watts of Northbrook. He is stationed at Hutchinson, Kansas, where he returned.

Deadline

Deadline for news for With Uncle Sam is Tuesday at 5 of each week. Pictures, letters or news of servicemen should be mailed or called direct to the publication office. Cooperation of the folks at home is sought to make a bigger and better With Uncle Sam.

Meets sister in Italy

"Everything is OK now. I'll be perfectly willing to keep on crossing and recrossing all the oceans with supplies," commented John H. Kleinow, merchant seaman, just after he had met his sister, Corporal Kleinow, member of a WAC unit stationed in Italy.

Big brother John had traveled across the Atlantic and Pacific scores of times as a member of a ship's crew that from the first days of the war had carried supplies to the far corners of the war world. He had known the long, long vigil of waiting for a ship to steam out of the horizon and pick him and his fellow merchant seamen from the Pacific. He had "gotten it twice" as he described it. Two times his ship had been the target of a successful enemy torpedo and two times his luck had held and he had been picked up. And to him the third lucky break was when he put into an Italian port, hurried about to trace down APO numbers and found that his kid sister was close at hand and could meet and visit him.

"Other fellows have run into their Wac sisters but I thought it would never happen. Our paths crossed and criss-crossed so many times that I had about given up hope. The other fellows were lucky but I was luckier. You see my kid sister is a cook for a WAC company—and I had all the home made pies I wanted and even hot doughnuts," commented the happy seaman.

The kid sister, of whom brother John is justly proud, is Cpl. Mary Kleinow, sister of Mrs. Virginia Kolze of Itasca. On Nov. 5 she will celebrate a year's service overseas by cooking a very special dinner for members of her unit. And even as she sewed on the golden stripes that denote overseas service, she commented on her desire to remain in the Corps until the war is over and then to have a part in the reconstruction work or if that is not possible to see service in one of the Pacific theaters.

"You see I had a good reason for joining. I joined right after my brother John was rescued from the Pacific. I want to have a part in this war, not just read about it. I wanted to get in it and to do something so that he and fellows like him could get home and so that ships could sail the oceans without fear of enemy submarines," summarized the Wac sister.

England

From England this week comes word of Jack Hayes of Palatine.

"Have finally settled down so I can let you know where I'm at again. I'm somewhere in England now. I never thought when I wrote you about going overseas, I would get here so soon.

"Haven't received a newspaper for about a month now but I suppose they're chasing me all over the country. I hope they catch up with me soon as I miss the news about the local boys and all the home town gossip. I'd like to know how the football team is coming along this year. I haven't heard a thing about them since the season started."

His address is Pvt. G. J. Hayes, 16174876, APO 448, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Lt. Elvin Kruse of Wheeling writes from somewhere in England where his crew is receiving further training and is well pleased with the field they call home. He finds the English people very friendly but still prefers the American girl. He was looking forward to visiting London on his next week end pass.

Given citation

Pfc. Leonard H. Kranz, 25, 402 W. Euclid ave., Arlington Heights, is entitled to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge, mark of the highest citation that is awarded units of the American Armed Forces.

His AAF B-26 Marauder bomber group in the Mediterranean theater has been cited by the War Department for "outstanding performance of duty in armed conflict with the enemy." During aerial operations which preceded and supported the Allied breakthrough at Cassino, Marauders displayed extraordinary accuracy bombing numerous targets.

On May 12, in direct support of the Fifth Army drive towards Rome, the group achieved spectacular results in an aerial attack on heavily defended enemy troop concentrations, including the famed 15th Panzer Grenadier Division. Despite numerous planes damaged and crew members wounded, the unescorted Marauders released almost 4,000 fragmentation bombs on the target. Irreplaceable casualties and destruction were piled on the already hard-pressed enemy, smashing key reserves and aiding the Allied drive northwards.

The group was cited for "results which set it above and apart from other units, typical of the continuously superior precision bombing made possible through unstinted effort and superlative performance of duty by every member of the organization. Through their unsurpassed courage, skill in combat and steadfast devotion to duty, the personnel of the group have reflected great credit upon themselves and the Military Service of the United States."

Marauders from the group have flown more than 350 missions during the African, Sicilian, Italian and France campaigns. The group has also received the Croix de Guerre from General DeGaulle and the provisional French government. Overseas since October, 1942, Private First Class Kranz is a Marauder bomber mechanic.

New Guinea

Now in New Guinea comes word of Forrest Davis of Arlington Heights. "Slim" was a former employee of Paddock Publications before he "saw the light" and became city clerk of Arlington Heights.

"Just a line to let you know I am in New Guinea but that is all I can elaborate on the location at present. I feel sure the censor will allow me to say 'Home was never like this'. The scenery is beautiful if you like vegetation and mountains. There are plenty of cocoanuts here. I guess that's about all too.

"Perhaps you know that New Guinea is quite an island, some 1400 miles long and 400 miles wide and it does remind a person of the Rocky mountains in the good old U. S. A. 'from a distance'.

"I am well, in fact I am swell. The food is as good as I have ever had. The mosquitoes and lizards are plentiful too, they tell me. Well, you might be sure the 'old salts' try to scare the new boys with tall stories. We heard them all.

"I am hopeful that I may meet some of my old friends but I haven't much confidence of any success. I will appreciate your cooperation in passing on my address and location.

"Give my regard to the gang in the shop and the boys in the City Hall, too."

His address is Forrest F. Davis, SK3c, % FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Pfc. Roger Rockenbach of Wheeling has come through another invasion feeling fine. Although his present whereabouts are not disclosed he says the natives are very friendly. He has taken some good pictures he hopes to show his friends. Pfc. Rockenbach is a veteran of the New Guinea campaign where he picked up a collection of Japanese souvenirs which he sent home recently. Among them are a Japanese flag, for which he had been offered $100, a bayonet, hat, flying gloves, fans, medals and some cigarettes which proved a "knock-out" for those who tried them. Roger sends regards to all his friends and will be happy to hear from them.

His address is Pfc. Roger Rockenbach, 36360755, APO 24, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Oahu

Now in Oahu is Ed Bublitz of Arlington Heights.

"Not much has happened here except that I have moved to Oahu. Haven't been to Honolulu yet but hope to soon. There are quite a few of the boys around here I'd like to look up.

"At present I am kept busy with jungle training, etc., in preparation for a trip down under. It's not a bad deal at all, and I'm getting along.

"Haven't seen any papers for a long time and I'm very much interested in the bowling scores. I like to keep an account of all the 'fish'."

Merrill Marauder back after 4 mo. in Burma

Pfc. Tom Dolinajec tells of 20 months in India theater

After serving a period of several months in Burma with Merrill's Marauders Pfc. Tom Dolinajec of Arlington Heights has returned home for a 21 day furlough. Tom served overseas for 20 months, four of them with Brigadier General Merrill's Jap-harassing outfit.

"Merrill believed in plenty of action, and our outfit was continually looking for it. Our job was to hunt out the enemy, destroy him, and return to allied lines. We would then choose a new mission, going on another death-dealing adventure.

"But our trips were far from adventure. They were just matter-of-fact, common-sense battle missions. It was simple. We would go ahead of advancing Chinese lines, pick out some Jap outpost, and attempt to destroy it. Many times we succeeded, and sometimes we were forced to fall back. But only to return again and complete the job.

Not so tough

"Fighting in the jungle isn't as hard as some people think it to be. At least all of us prefer it to the open style in Europe. In the jungle all we wore were fatigue clothes, plus poncho, blanket and rations. Compare this to the amount of equipment necessary for the European soldier, including heavy clothing.

"It was always hot in Burma, so if you got wet in your fox-hole, you would dry quickly. In Europe you'd catch cold or freeze. In the jungle tanks and heavy artillery are taboo. Foliage is too thick to permit passage of anything off the wide trails except mules. Thus the only guns you have to hear are mortars and machine guns, plus rifles. In Europe you go practically nuts listening to the roar of bombs, 105s, 155s and 240s, plus the roar of tanks and rockets, and mortars and machine guns.

"Then, too, the Japs opened this war with certain weapons and are still using them. They haven't advanced the way the Nazis have. Rockets are unknown in Burma. Then, too, the U. S. has mastery of the air over Burma, making Nip planes as scarce as Chicago street cars in the early morning hours.

Along Ledo road

"Our outfit, composed of not too many men, fought along the Ledo road. That is a road being constructed by American engineers to connect with the Burma road into China. The engineers are doing a wonderful job. At places the road is no wider than one truck. Then again it is a super-highway. The bulldozers just push away the earth, including many hills, and flatten it out. As soon as any section is completed thousands of trucks roar back and forth.

"Of course, our excursions were off the beaten path. Natives in past tens of years have worn numerous paths in the jungles. We usually followed these, though many were no wider than a foot path. We would always send intelligence officers out ahead to look for 'targets'.

"Sometimes when we would come to a strong point, we would circle around and attack from the rear. This would take half the Jap strength, and the remainder would be busy fighting the advancing Chinese. This move proved successful time after time.

Interpreters help

"One of the biggest factors in the unit's extraordinary success (15 per cent casualties) were the interpreters. They were Japanese-Americans who would travel with the commanding officers. It seems the Nips always give commands at a shout. In the jungle you could get almost on top of a man without being seen, and our interpreters would advance to within yards of enemy lines.

"Then, as enemy commands were shouted as to what moves to make, the interpreters would tell us, so we could go the other way. In one special case a battalion was trapped by two units of the Jap army. It looked as if the jig was up until those commands were again shouted by the Nips. Our interpreters then led us 'the other way' and our unit escaped the trap.

"When these Jap-Americans first came to our outfit, some of the boys from the South Pacific stated 'if they come within our sights we'll get them'. But from the first action they proved their worth over and over again. In the end they could have anything for asking from these same South Pacific vets.

Planes bring supplies

"Naturally, we couldn't carry supplies for days on end, and dropping ammunition and supplies from the skies was the only answer. We kept constant radio contact with the air force and would order whatever we needed as easy as putting in the daily grocery order. We'd pick out a clearing for dropping the supplies, and sometimes the planes would get there before we could.

"One time this backfire. One of the outfits picked a hill on which to receive the supplies. It's hard for airmen to hit a hill with supplies, and all our rations landed in Jap hands. It was rubbing it in to us when we could smell the Nips cooking our rations. But generally the plan worked perfectly. We had top cooperation from the air force. Seeing those C-47s coming over always gave us a feeling of pride. We also often called on the air corps to aid us in attacking particularly heavy Jap concentrations.

"All supplies were carried by mules. The mule-skinners knew their business and did a wonderful job with the animals. In one case we covered certain territory, taking a full day. When we had to retreat these same mules covered that same distance in just over two hours. They seem anxious to move, providing you keep them moving. But stopping a lot slows down the mules and brings out their stubborness.

Hard to see dead Japs

Actual day-to-day results were always hard to determin. The nips would usually bury their dead, smoothing over the ground. It's disconcerting to fight an outfit for a couple of days, and then to move up and find no enemy dead. As far as individual count goes, you never know whether you hit a specific Jap, or whether it was the guy next to you. But we later heard that the commanding general of the enemy 18th division, the unit we were engaging, had committed suicide. Such action indicated reasonable success.

"Some men contracted malaria but the percentage was very small. Supervision was strict and everyone had his atabrine tablets to take daily. Of course, some took triple doses when they felt bad, with ill effects. Others thought they needn't bother, and suffered bad cases. I followed orders pretty closely and stayed healthy.

"We had originally gone to India, after serving 6 months duty at Trinidad on the way over. We arrived in India in October of '43 for special training. Merrill's unit was organized with volunteers and we went on our campaign, to return to 'civilization' in May of this year.

Filth and beggars

"Most outstanding impressions I received from India was its filth and beggars. Every where you went beggars asked for tips. Many times you had to practically beat your way out of a circle of beggars. As far as the filth was concerned, such areas of Bombay and Calcutta were declared out of bounds to all servicemen. The downtown districts were somewhat modern and looked a lot like the large cities in America.

"We had open air movies at our rear base, with a new show every other night. Some of the natives would also stand around to see the picture, though I don't know why. They certainly couldn't understand them.

"The Red Cross in Calcutta was a great success. They provided a restaurant, library, tours and lectures, dances and sports kits that included sports equipment. They are doing a great service.

Resent the British

"Many people ask me about how the British are received by the natives in the Orient, compared to the Americans. One example I saw answers this question. At a public well a bunch of us G. I.'s were standing awaiting our turn. Up came some Britishers who pushed their way to the pump and helped themselves. Anyone would resent such action and that is just what happened. The British always had this imperialistic attitude toward everyone. I think the Chinese dislike the British for the same reason.

"On the other hand, Americans are recognized as the great friends of all. Our country represents the perfect example of freedom to everyone. Many Orientals have an idealistic picture of this country, but compared to theirs, America is idealistic.

"My own opinion, though, is that India would fare even worse if granted independence by the British. Though the natives receive few benefits under British rule, they would receive even less if the great Indian moneyed men were able to gain control of the government. And there are plenty of rich Indians waiting for the day that Great Britain will grant that freedom."

Tom was granted a furlough because of his volunteering for the marauders while already overseas. He covered India by train in five days, and caught a plane at Karachi for Egypt, Africa and America. He arrived home November 8, and reported to Miami, Florida, November 29.

Kansas

Home on furlough for 12 days is Wilbert Schlomann of Itasca. He is stationed at Ft. Riley, Kansas. Pvt. Schlomann arrived home Saturday and is scheduled to go back Sunday, Dec. 7.

Home on 10 days leave was petty officer 3rd class Charles Watts of Northbrook. He is stationed at Hutchinson, Kansas, where he returned.

Deadline

Deadline for news for With Uncle Sam is Tuesday at 5 of each week. Pictures, letters or news of servicemen should be mailed or called direct to the publication office. Cooperation of the folks at home is sought to make a bigger and better With Uncle Sam.

Meets sister in Italy

"Everything is OK now. I'll be perfectly willing to keep on crossing and recrossing all the oceans with supplies," commented John H. Kleinow, merchant seaman, just after he had met his sister, Corporal Kleinow, member of a WAC unit stationed in Italy.

Big brother John had traveled across the Atlantic and Pacific scores of times as a member of a ship's crew that from the first days of the war had carried supplies to the far corners of the war world. He had known the long, long vigil of waiting for a ship to steam out of the horizon and pick him and his fellow merchant seamen from the Pacific. He had "gotten it twice" as he described it. Two times his ship had been the target of a successful enemy torpedo and two times his luck had held and he had been picked up. And to him the third lucky break was when he put into an Italian port, hurried about to trace down APO numbers and found that his kid sister was close at hand and could meet and visit him.

"Other fellows have run into their Wac sisters but I thought it would never happen. Our paths crossed and criss-crossed so many times that I had about given up hope. The other fellows were lucky but I was luckier. You see my kid sister is a cook for a WAC company—and I had all the home made pies I wanted and even hot doughnuts," commented the happy seaman.

The kid sister, of whom brother John is justly proud, is Cpl. Mary Kleinow, sister of Mrs. Virginia Kolze of Itasca. On Nov. 5 she will celebrate a year's service overseas by cooking a very special dinner for members of her unit. And even as she sewed on the golden stripes that denote overseas service, she commented on her desire to remain in the Corps until the war is over and then to have a part in the reconstruction work or if that is not possible to see service in one of the Pacific theaters.

"You see I had a good reason for joining. I joined right after my brother John was rescued from the Pacific. I want to have a part in this war, not just read about it. I wanted to get in it and to do something so that he and fellows like him could get home and so that ships could sail the oceans without fear of enemy submarines," summarized the Wac sister.

England

From England this week comes word of Jack Hayes of Palatine.

"Have finally settled down so I can let you know where I'm at again. I'm somewhere in England now. I never thought when I wrote you about going overseas, I would get here so soon.

"Haven't received a newspaper for about a month now but I suppose they're chasing me all over the country. I hope they catch up with me soon as I miss the news about the local boys and all the home town gossip. I'd like to know how the football team is coming along this year. 'I haven't heard a thing about them since the season started."

His address is Pvt. G. J. Hayes, 16174876, APO 448, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Lt. Elvin Kruse of Wheeling writes from somewhere in England where his crew is receiving further training and is well pleased with the field they call home. He finds the English people very friendly but still prefers the American girl. He was looking forward to visiting London on his next week end pass.

ON TO TOKYO!

Let's all get behind the greatest march in history—the march to Tokyo—and victory!

On countless invasion fronts, thousands of your fighting men are taking up the battle cry: "On to Tokyo!" We've got to back them up with what it takes for complete victory. Remember, the supply lines in the Pacific are long and your fighting men will need more materiel than was required for the entire European invasion to crush the Jap foe.

Let's Echo that cry with BONDS!

Our boys won't quit until they've reached their goal. Let's not stop buying Bonds until we've reached ours! In this 6th War Loan Drive, the Nation's goal is $14 billions... our individual job is to buy at least an extra $100 Bond... another and then another... let's keep on going... let's keep on buying... let's keep on saying it with Bonds... "On to Tokyo!"
